TO GUARD TRUSTS AND THE PEOPLE

Gary Says New Anti-Trust Law Is Badly Needed.

Steel Magnate Urges Congress to Enact Constructive Legislation --- "Gary Dinners" Explained---Gary Expresses His Opinion of Wall Street.

Washington, June 8.—Legislation to replace the Sherman anti-trust law so as to protect property interests and the people's welfare alike was urged by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, in concluding his testimony today before the house so-called "steel trust" investigating committee. Judge Gary said he hoped the committee in its report on the investigation would give the United States Steel Corporation what the committee thinks ought to be the corporation's standing under the law.

Constructive Legislation Needed.

"I wish," said he, "that this committee will take advantage of its opportunity to suggest legislation and use its influence to bring about the enactment of proper legislation calculated to properly protect the property interests of the country, the interests of the government, and the people at large, so as to permit us to continue business progress along lines of prosperity.

"Constructive legislation is what is needed in this country if we are to retain our position in the ranks with competing nations of the world."

"Would you believe it sensible," asked Representative Littleton, "to have congress appoint a joint committee to hear representatives of capital and of labor and of so-called restrained and unrestrained trade with a view to preparing an anti-trust law which would correct features of the Sherman law or errors that might have come through court decisions on that law, and to strengthen and elaborate that law?"

"Yes, I do," responded Mr. Gary, "and I would be glad to have such an undertaking result in something more practical and to be the first one to fall into line to live up to such a law."

The So-Called Gary Dinners.

The so-called "Gary dinners" where steel men of the country acquainted each other with all facts relating to their business and suggested the maintenance of prices to prevent "destructive competition" were delved into by the committee. Representative Beall sought to show that the result of those understandings was tantamount to a signed agreement to control prices, a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

"I have stated repeatedly," said Mr. Gary, "that I believed—and all of us in the steel business believed—that open and frank disclosures to each other of our business conditions and suggestions as the best interests of all brought about an equilibrium in the trade and prevented destructive competition.

"The only question involved in those dinners is whether it is good law or good morals to endeavor by friendly intercourse to maintain to a reasonable extent an equilibrium of business and prevent destructive competition.

"If the department of justice or the president should say that this is not the right thing to do it would not be continued for one minute.

"If the members of this committee believe it is better for all concerned in this country for the steel interests to enter into destructive competition than to try to legally maintain an equilibrium of business, it is up to you."

Rule or Steel Rule.

Mr. Lindabury, counsel for the United States Steel Corporation, referred to the efforts of men in the steel industry through the Gary dinners, as an attempt to put into practical operation the Golden Rule.

"You mean the steel rue, don't you?" asked Mr. Littleton.

Mr. Gary declared he had made no attempt to disguise the fact that the steel men of the country sought to maintain prices as near a level as possible through friendly interchange of ideas for the purpose of getting between the restraint of trade and monopoly provisions of the Sherman law, on one hand, and destructive competition on the other. He had never stood for unchanging prices, he declared, but against wide fluctuations.

Mr. Gary's attention was again called to his former declaration that he favored government control of corporations. He said that he would have the government license corporations engaged in interstate commerce, first deciding whether it was so entitled under the anti-trust law. He would make the license revocable for misconduct, but in all cases would retain the right of appeal to the courts, which right, he added, "is the salvation of this country."

Gary's Opinion Wall Street.

His opinion of all street was drawn out when he was asked concerning the capitalization of the United States Steel Corporation and concerning intrinsic values. The capitalization of the steel company, he insisted, was not too great in view of the additional value given all companies included when they were combined into one growing vitalized concern.

"Intrinsic values," Mr. Gary said, "are not always strictly regarded, particularly in New York. There are times when people in the market in Wall street pay little attention to intrinsic values. Personally I do not know much about Wall street. I do not care about Wall street, but I do know that the selling price of securities in Wall street is at times largely the result of manipulation. That is a sad commentary, but it is true. Wall street, Mr. Chairman, is a good place for you and I to keep away from."

The committee in excusing Mr. Gary asked him to hold himself under the subpoena and to return if his presence was desired.

The Girl Pioneers.

New York, June 8.—American girls who have recently organized in three widely separated sections of the United States in movements to parallel that of the boy scouts, will combine forces and call themselves the "Girl Pioneers of America." The amalgamation includes the Girl Scouts, which Miss Lisetor-Lane, of Des Moines, Iowa, organized last year; the Girl Guides, which the Rev. David Ferry organized in Spokane a few months later, and the Campfire Girls, organized in this city recently.

W. C. T. U. STARTS CRUSADE AGAINST COMMUNION WINE

"No more fermented wines in the churches for the communion service," is the slogan of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union; and in pursuance of this plan they are agitating the question as often and as strongly as possible before the various ministerial associations in the state. As a substitute they suggest the use of unfermented grape juice or water.

They took it up Thursday morning during the ministers' hour at the institute meeting conducted by Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, Mrs. Florence Ewell Atkins and Mrs. T. E. Patterson; and before they were through with the energetic discussion and condemnation of the practice which they say unconsciously places temptation before those who are inherently subject to the whisky weakness, they had passed a resolution calling for committees from the Anti-Saloon League and the Ministerial Association to go before the city council to secure a city ordinance prohibiting the use of fermented liquors in the churches.

The committee is also to endeavor to secure civic legislation prohibiting the posting of whisky advertisements on billboards throughout the city.

Strong addresses were made in connection with both subjects, Mrs. J. B. Richards, of LaGrange, making a particularly fervent and interesting appeal against the use of fermented wines. Her talk was one of the features of the meeting, and won enthusiastic response from those present. The various ministers in the house were called upon for expressions of their opinions, and all warmly indorsed the work of the W. C. T. U. The billboards also came in for a severe condemnation, and the papers which carry whisky advertisements were heavily scored.

Luncheon was eaten at the close of the 11 o'clock service, and at 2:30 the women gathered again for addresses on "What Should be the Christian's Attitude Toward Prohibition?" Mrs. Armor, Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. Patterson giving 10 minutes' talk each.

The missionary hour brought out the relation of the missionary societies to the temperance work, and was most interesting.

Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, with her usual fire and eloquence, electrified her audience at the night meeting Thursday, simply carrying them into a wave of high enthusiasm. She has formed a number of large unions since being in Atlanta, one of the largest being that formed at the Central Baptist church Wednesday night.

The officers of this union are: Mrs. G. P. Hall, president; Mrs. Limmie Davis, vice president; Miss Lessie Parris, secretary; Miss Etta Braming, treasurer, and Mrs. Fred Corres, secretary.

This union will be called the Sue Holloway Union.

The event of prime interest in the whole campaign will be Hobson's address tonight at the Tabernacle. The lecture will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and there will be no admission charge.

The institute will be held throughout the day at the Central Baptist church, the teachers' hour at 11 o'clock in the morning, and the doctors' hour at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, being the salient features of the program.

FATALLY SHOT BY WIFE'S MAID

Capitalist Kohl Attacked In 'Frisco Court House.

The Girl Accused Kohl of Persecution---Kohl Is One of San Francisco's Richest Men and Is Prominently Connected in East---He Forgives Girl.

San Francisco, June 8.—C. Frederick Kohl, capitalist, was shot and probably fatally wounded today by Miss Adele Verge, a French maid, until recently employed by Kohl's wife. The shooting occurred in the corridor of the Grant building, in which the superior courts are housed. Kohl had gone there as a witness in a suit recently brought by Miss Verge against him and Frank A. Miller, a hotel manager of Riverside, for malicious persecution.

The suit, which led to today's tragedy, was an outgrowth of a quarrel between Miss Verge and a chauffeur and the woman's discharge from Mrs. Kohl's service. Miss Verge alleged that Kohl and Miller had prevented her from obtaining employment.

Witness Against Woman.

The case against Kohl was dismissed yesterday, and today he went to the superior court as a witness in the case against Miller.

After court adjourned, Miss Verge descended to the main entrance. When Kohl emerged from the elevator she drew a weapon from the folds of her skirt and fired. The bullet entered just below the heart, and the surgeon at the Central Emergency hospital said that his condition was critical. On the operating table Kohl retained consciousness, and said he freely forgave the woman for her act.

Miss Verge was so hysterical that she was unable to make a coherent statement to the police, who took her in custody.

One of 'Frisco's Richest Men.

Kohl is one of the richest men in San Francisco. He is a member of the New York Yacht Club, the Metropolitan Club, of Washington, D. C.; the Richmond County Town and Country Club, of Philadelphia, and of prominent clubs of the Pacific coast.

He is a son of Mrs. William C. Kohl, a wealthy woman. His wife was Miss Elizabeth Godey, of Washington, D. C.

The elder Mrs. Kohl is now in Atlantic City, whither she went from New York after attending the Gould and Graham wedding.

FOR STANDARDIZING ALL PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

Washington, June 8.—Standardizing of all cities, county and state accounts was the keynote of the convention of the National Association of Controllers and Accounting Officers here today. Alonzo Tweedale, of this city, the president, declared that millions of dollars annually could be saved to American taxpayers under the proposition of former Comptroller Herman A. Metz, of New York city, to provide a fund of $10,000 a year for three years to make available to American municipalities the best principles and practice worked out in municipal accounting and reporting.

NAME OFFICERS FOR LOAN BANK

W. Woods White Is Elected President of the Institution.

Atlanta Loan and Savings Bank Will Open on June 19 in Room in the Candler Building---Strong Board of Directors Is Selected.

Officers were elected and all arrangements made for the opening of the Atlanta Loan and Savings Bank, at a meeting of the stockholders of the company yesterday at which 766 shares out of the 1,000, were represented.

The institution will be open to care for the needs of the man with small means, on June 19, in Room 533 of the Candler building. These quarters are quite large enough to care for the business of the company.

At the meeting of the stockholders the charter secured from the Fulton county superior court on May 29 was accepted, and the constitution and by-laws proposed adopted.

By the unanimous vote of the 766 shares of stock represented, the following gentlemen were elected as directors for the company: Captain W. G. Raoul, J. Carroll Payne, R. J. Paxon, E. C. Callaway, Fred Lewis, John A. Brice, Francis Kamper, H. N. Randolph, C. B. Bidwell, J. C. Logan, G. B. Scott, A. S. Anderson, J. Epps Brown, Brooks Morgan, William Hurd Hillyer, T. R. Sawtell, B. L. Willingham, R. S. Wessells, V. H. Kreigshaber, Thomas K. Glenn, John A. Whitner, and W. Woods White.

After the adjournment of the stockholders, the directors met and named W. Woods White president, and a committee was appointed to perfect the organization and arrange details for the opening business without delay.

The first installment of 25 per cent was called for, to be paid June 17. The regular call will be issued without delay.

BIG REDUCTION MADE IN EXPRESS RATE

The Southern Express Company Loses Before Commerce Commission.

Washington, June 8.—The contention that express rates should be a certain percentage higher than freigat rates was not sustained by the interstate commerce commission in a decision announced today of the case of Franklin, Stiles & Franklin, of Jacksonville, Fla., against the Southern Express Company. The commission held that the rates enacted by the express company for the transportation of eggs in cases was unreasonable and it was reduced approximately 22 per cent.

Flew 85 Miles in 55 Minutes.

Buc, France, June 8.—Aviator Averigo flew from Orleans to this place today in 55 minutes (the distance approximately is 85 miles). He traveled at a height of 7,500 feet in a northeast wind, having a velocity of 30 miles an hour.

Negro Slain by Mob.

Nashville, Tenn., June 8.—J. Winston, a negro who is supposed to have murdered Frank Baker, an ex-federal soldier, for his pension money, some time ago, was shot and killed by a mob in the edge of Lafayette, Macon county, Tennessee, tonight.

ANGERED BY BABY'S CRIES MAN CHOKES IT TO DEATH

Philadelphia, June 8.—Infuriated by the cries of the baby son of Mrs. Filomina Attisio, Pasquale Serrano, a boarder, according to statements made to the police today, snatched the child from its mother, pressed it to his breast until its ribs cracked, and then choked it to death after crushing its face with his fist. The mother and two other of her children, Kate, aged 8, and Joseph, aged 6 years, witnessed the tragedy, which occurred in their home in the Italian section of this city late last night. Serrano, who was in trouble with the police about a year ago on suspicion of being implicated in a black-hand explosion, disappeared after calling in an undertaker, and has not been arrested. The latter notified the police officers of the condition of the child's body, and the mother was arrested and held as a witness.

REPORT ORDERED ON RECIPROCITY

But Senate Finance Committee Makes No Recommendation.

Root Amendment Is Adopted, and Bill Goes to Senate Without Favorable or Unfavorable Action --- Measure to Be Put Before Senate Next Tuesday.

Washington, June 8.—The Canadian reciprocity bill is ready for consideration by the senate, the finance committee today having voted 10 to 4 to report the bill Tuesday without recommendation, and with the Root amendment to the wood pulp and paper clause tacked onto the measure.

Senator Root's amendment provides that wood pulp, paper and paper board shall not be admitted free of duty into the United States from Canada unless these products are admitted free from this country into every province of Canada. Preceding the vote to report the bill, this amendment was adopted by the committee by a vote of 8 to 6, those opposing it being Senators Penrose, Cullom and McCumber, republicans, and Stone, Williams and Kern, democrats.

An effort to send the bill to the senate with a report recommending the passage of the measure resulted in a vote of 6 to 8, those favoring this action being Senators Penrose, Cullom and Lodge, republicans, and Stone, Williams and Kern, democrats.

Vote Was a Tie.

On a vote for an unfavorable report, the result was a tie, Senator Smoot joining Senators Penrose, Cullom, Lodge, Stone, Williams and Kern in opposing this action.

On the final motion, which was to report the bill as amended, and without recommendation, Messrs. Penrose, Cullom, Lodge, Smoot and Gallinger, republicans, and Stone, Bailey, Williams, Kern and Simmons, democrats, voted in favor, and Messrs. Heyburn, Clark, McCumber and La Follette, republicans, against the motion.

Senator Johnson, of Maine, was not present.

Two reasons actuated the committee in waiting until Tuesday to report the bill. The principal one was that several members desire to present minority reports, and asked for several days in which to prepare them. Senators Stone, Williams and Kern probably will present a report urging the passage of the bill unamended, while Senators McCumber and La Follette will make reports opposing the passage of the measure.

The second reason was that the Borah resolution providing for the direct election of senators will be before the senate until next Tuesday, the day fixed some time ago for a vote thereon.

Canada Doesn't Mind Root Amendment.

Ottawa, Ont., June 8.—The reporting of the reciprocity agreement by the United States senate committee was heard with satisfaction at Ottawa. The Root amendment to the pulp and paper clause in no way injures the pact from the Canadian point of view.

It is known that Finance Minister Fielding, who is now in Europe, expressed the opinion that the Root amendment merely gives effect in a clearer way to the intention of the treaty makers. It is hoped here that the senate will act favorably and promptly on the bill as reported by the committee.

IT'S BLACKMAIL, DECLARES STOKES

New York, June 8.—Developments in the case of W. E. D. Stokes, the millionaire hotel proprietor, real estate owner and horse breeder, who was shot last night by two young women, will probably be held up for several days.

The wounded man is in no immediate danger, it was said at the Roosevelt hospital tonight, but his condition was regarded as serious until it could be determined if blood poisoning would set in. Barring such ill-luck, Mr. Stokes will be out of the hospital in about ten days, but pending the outcome of his injuries, Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, the young women in the case, will be held without bail.

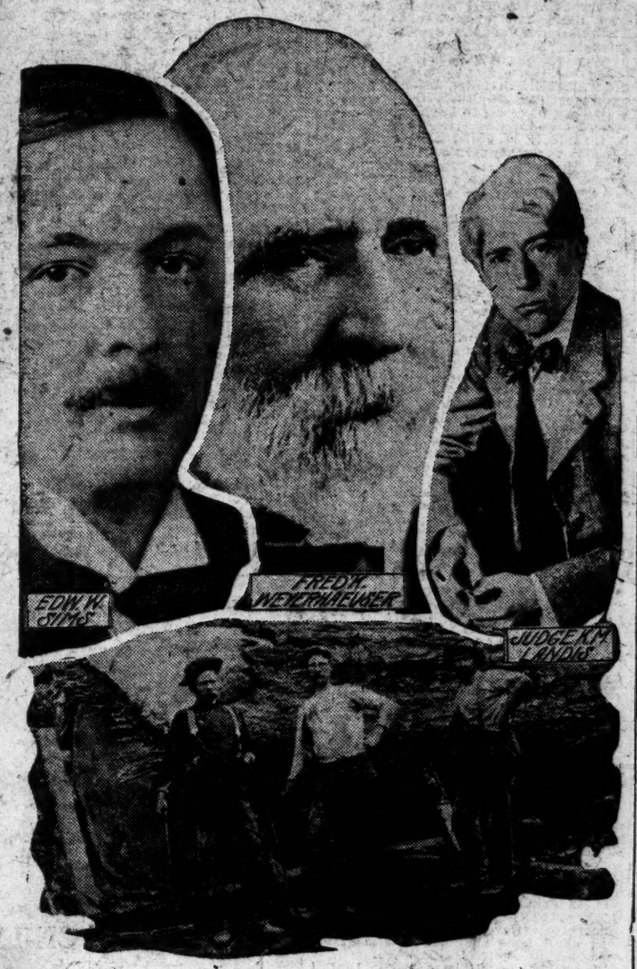

The explanation made in Mr. Stokes' behalf, alleging that he was shot because he refused to sign an agreement to pay $25,000 for the return of letters held by the young women, was amplified today by Police Inspector Russel. Mr. said Mr. Stokes had told detectives that Miss Graham called on him at the Hotel Ansonia a week ago and demanded $500 for some letters. When Mr. Stokes replied that he would not pay a nickel for the letters, it is alleged, she drew a phial from her pocket and declared she would kill herself. Mr. Stokes, however, wrenched the bottle from her.

The original allegation that $25,000 had been demanded for the letters was positively denied by Miss Graham, who declared that there was no question or mention of money at all. She declared there was no chance for argument when Mr. Stokes appeared at the apartment last night, but that he immediately seized her by the throat and demanded the letters.

The Fitzgerald Postoffice.

Washington, June 11.—(Special)—Willis Smith, of Fitzgerald, formerly tax collector of Ben Hill county, was a visitor in Washington today. He is here to urge the candidacy of his sister-in-law, Miss Eleanor Marston, for the position of postmaster at Fitzgerald. The vacancy was caused by the recent death of W. H. Marston, father of the present applicant. Representative Hughes assured Mr. Smith that he would favor the candidacy of Miss Marston and would do everything in his power to land the nomination for her.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS AND MILLIONAIRE FIGURING IN LUMBER TRUST PROBE

Chicago, June 4.—The work of impanelling a special federal grand jury to investigate the alleged lumber trust begins June 5, before Judge K. M. Landis, in the United States court here. The United States prosecuting attorney, Edwin W. Sims, is preparing evidence to be submitted to the grand jury aiming to show that the Sherman anti-trust law has been violated. Several big lumber magnates will be called to testify. An effort will be made to secure the attendance before the grand jury of Frederick Weyerhaeuser, of Minnesota, the multi-millionaire lumber king, who is said to have made more money out of timberlands and lumber than John D. Rockefeller made from oil. Weyerhaeuser is credited in some quarters with being richer than Rockefeller.

INTO TAFT'S PLATE OF SOUP NEW YORK CHILD PUTS FOOT

New York, June 8.—President Taft reached here from Washington at 1:03 o'clock this afternoon for a visit to Brooklyn, where the president was welcomed at the Hanover and Union League Clubs, after which he reviewed a parade of Sunday school children.

The president enjoyed his luncheon at the Union League Club, in spite of an unexpected accident, which necessitated bringing him a fresh plate of soup. A child wanted to give the president a program. Someone stood the babe on the table. Just then a waiter put a plate of soup in front of the president and the child set his small foot squarely in the middle of it.

The presidential waistcoat was splashed, but vigorous application of a napkin repaired the damage and the president comforted the child, who was overcome by the disaster.

All afternoon in Brooklyn the president reviewed the 150,000 boys and girls who followed their Sunday school leaders in double file in a dozen sections. He was carried to no fewer than twelve stands erected in parks and at street intersections, from which he looked upon the parades coming and going from all directions.

The day was full of pretty incidents. One was a kiss with which the president rewarded a little girl who climbed up on his car and gave him a big bouquet of American beauties. Another —when a boy called out with temerity: "Hello, Mr. President, my name is Bill, too."

NOT A CANDIDATE SAYS ROOSEVELT

The Colonel Says It Would Be Calamity if He Were Nominated in 1912.

White River Junction, Vt., June 8.—"I shall not be a candidate for the republican presidential nomination in 1912. I should regard it as a calamity if I were nominated. I demand it of my friends that they do everything in their power to prevent movements tending toward my nomination."

This is the sense of the reply Theodore Roosevelt made according to Wallace Bachelor, former member of the Rough Riders, when Bachelor asked the colonel whether he would be a candidate in 1912.

HAMMOND ASKS FOR FAIR PLAY

New York, June 8.—In an address before the convention of the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' Association, Judge Henry C. Hammond, of the superior court, of Augusta, Ga., asked for fair treatment for the great commercial combinations. He said that the trusts are of the greatest benefit to prosperity, and paid a tribute to John D. Rockefeller, who, he said, was liked by the citizens of Augusta because of "his simple, neighborly and friendly associations with them."

"He is only the trustee for the people," said Judge Hammond, "in the distribution of wealth."

Judge Hammond told the cotton seed crushers that they were paying the southern farmer too high a price for the raw material, and selling their products too low. He made a plea for the elimination of "lawless and rampant competition," and told them that under the ruling of the United States supreme court they would be permitted to go very far in reaching "reasonable and timely business arrangements" among themselves.

Robbers Get $9,000.

Tooele, Utah, June 8.—After binding and gagging S. L. Shafer, cashier of the Tooele Commercial bank, yesterday, two mounted robbers fled to the hills with $9,000 of the bank's money. Several posses are in pursuit.

MISS WETHERBY FATALLY HURT

Thomas O. West, Prominent Louisville Insurance Man, Shot at Another.

Louisville, Ky., June 8.—It developed late today that mistaken identity was responsible for the shooting and serious wounding last night of Miss Hattie Wetherby, a young school teacher of Middletown, Ky., on the Shelbyville pike, near Louisville. Thomas O. West, treasurer of the Kentucky Life and Accident Insurance Company, charged with the shooting, told the police today that he was too drunk last night to remember what occurred, but it was learned that West had called on a young woman shortly before the shooting, and not finding her at home, had become enraged.

Meeting Miss Wetherby, who was driving on the pike in an open buggy, he opened fire on her from his automobile, believing her to be the young woman on whom he had called.

WOMAN CHOKED WITH STOCKING

Charlotte, N. C., June 8.—With a stocking tied closely about her neck, another crammed into her throat and her hands tied behind her, Mrs. Ida Hill was found dead at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Ragsdale, at Jamestown, early this morning. The deed is supposed to be the work of burglars who entered the house between midnight and day this morning. Indications of burglary led to the theory.

Mrs. Hill is the widow of the late Dr. Joel Hill, who was a prominent physician of Lexington, N. C. Dr. Hill died about four months ago. Mrs. Hill was returning from Philadelphia, where she was treated in a sanitarium following a nervous breakdown after her husband's death. She was accompanied from Philadelphia by her sister, Miss Jennie Ragsdale, who is a member of the faculty of Bryn Mawr College. Miss Ragsdale was in the house when the murder was committed. No clue has been found as yet to the perpetrators of the deed.

Castro Not Yet Found.

Washington, June 8.—A search at Gibraltar for Cipriano Castro, the exiled former president of Venezuela, has so far been fruitless, according to the state department advices. The effort to locate Castro will be continued.

TAFT ASKS SOUTH TO GIVE SUPPORT TO RECIPROCITY

President Addresses the Cotton Seed Crushers at New York Convention.

THE BILL, THE WHOLE BILL AND NOTHING BUT THE BILL

In Those Words Taft Stresses the Importance of Passing the Reciprocity Agreement Without Amendment — He Tells Crushers That Reciprocity Will Benefit South.

New York, June 8.—"The bill, the whole bill and nothing but the bill."

Thus President Taft summed up an earnest plea for the unamended adoption by the senate of the Canadian reciprocity agreement before a representative audience of southern men tonight.

The occasion was a banquet given by the New York produce exchange to the Interstate Cotton Seed Crushers' Association. The banquet hall resounded to a roaring welcome for the president, as he entered the room. He had spent a busy afternoon in Brooklyn, when he reviewed aprades of more than 150,000 Sunday school children, and saw the Crescent Athletic Club team defeat Montreal at la crosse. But he showed no signs of fatigue, and smiling, bowed his appreciation of the welcome. Governor Nix, who arrived at about the same time, was also the recipient of a cordial greeting.

Advantages to the South.

In his address, President Taft pointed out to the southerners the advantages which their section would derive from the enactment of the agreement with Canada, but did not neglect to recur to his main argument for the pending bill on the broader lines of general national interest.

There was no questioning the sympathy of the big bulk of his auditors with the president's plea. From the start every mention of the word "reciprocity" was greeted with cheers, and the president at times had difficulty in proceeding. He voiced decided objections to amending the agreement by tacking on the farmers' free list bill, which course, he said, would drive away from its support enough votes to defeat the agreement.

"May I not ask you all, as Americans, as southerners, as southern cotton men and as southern cotton seed men," said Mr. Taft, "to exert yourselves through this association and in every other practical way to urge upon and demand of your senators that if they really favor reciprocity—as I sincerely believe most of them do—they shall take the best and most direct way to secure its passage?"

Taft to Cotton Seed Crushers.

President Taft said:

"Gentlemen of the Cotton Seed Industry: I shall not detain you long this evening. My message is short You represent a branch of the farming industry of this country in which we have a practical monopoly. Cotton is grown in Egypt and in India and in some other parts of the world, but the great crop which determines the price in the world each year is the cotton crop of the southern states.

"Your branch of that industry, to wit, the collecting and treatment of the cotton seed and its expression into oil and the sale of oil is comparatively new. For years and years the cotton seed was thrown away and its value to the producer of cotton and to the public in general was not understood. Now the cotton seed product figures in every calculation made with respect to the cultivation of cotton, and there has been added by the proper treatment of the cotton seed a new source of food supply and a gainful occupation that needs, and can find, a market the whole world over. Cotton seed oil is one of the best of the edible oils. It is a competitor of olive oil and of peanut oil, and the question of its sale is much affected by trade agreements and the tariffs of countries with which we do business.

Growth of Cotton Oil Trade.

"It has been the good fortune of our government within the last few years, and especially during this administration, to enlarge the market for cotton seed oil, and the Canadian import duty upon cotton seed oil, which was 20 per cent before the passage of the Payne tariff bill, is reduced under the maximum and minimum clause to 17½ per cent, that is, a reduction of one-eighth of the duty. In the negotiation of the reciprocity treaty, however, we secured the admission of cotton seed oil into Canada without duty.

"In 1905 the value of the cotton seed oil introduced into Canada from the United States was $213,000; in 1906, $310,000; in 1907, $376,000; in 1908, $539,000; in 1909, $620,000; in 1910, $807,000 and in 1911, $1,047,000—each year ending March 31. This means a total export to Canada of more than 2,050,000 gallons of this oil.

"With the complete removal of the duty we may expect the trade greatly to increase.

"I have gone into detail with reference to the effect of the reciprocity agreement in order to arouse your selfish interest and to give point to an appeal to you to aid, through your senators and representatives, the passage of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

How Reciprocity Will Aid South.

"But there are other selfish reasons for men who have the business interests of the south at heart that ought to add to your effort in behalf of the reciprocity agreement. Under the treaty, vegetables and fruits of all kinds enter Canada free.

"One of the greatest branches of the farming industry in the south today is truck farming, and the bringing of early vegetables to the north. The same thing is true of fruits and berries. With the introduction of these free into Canada you will secure other customers with a valuable trade that will add greatly to the demand, and that will certainly expand your industry and maintain the prices at which it can be profitably carried on.

"I have discussed in this city, Chicago and elsewhere the general advantages of the reciprocity treaty, and I do not intend to wbary you with a repetition of the reasons of a general character which I have previously advanced, more than to say while the treaty has in it provisions peculiarly beneficial to various branches of industries—farming and manufacturing—in different sections, the effect of the treaty as a whole is certain to be of the highest usefulness to the country-at-large, and will increase rapidly trade that now exceeds $300,000,000 into figures double that sum.

Reciprocity Not Unjust to Farmers.

"The treaty has opponents, however, vigorous, active and vociferous, and the arguments against it and the means taken to defeat it are not always of a direct character. The house of representatives, soon after it passed the bill embodying the reciprocity agreement, passed a bill known as the farmers' free list. In my judgment, it was both unfortunate and unjust that this bill should have been introduced and adopted by some on the theory that it was a sop to the farmers to make up for the injustice and injury assumed to have been done them in the Canadian reciprocity bill, for there is no injustice done to the farmers in the Canadian reciprocity agreement. Whether the farmers' free list is a measure which ought to be passed is a question on the merits of that bill and is to be, and ought to be, determined upon considerations wholly apart from the merits of Canadian reciprocity.

"I am glad to say that Mr. Underwood, who introduced the farmers' free list, repudiated any such idea, but certain it is that a number of people have assumed that unless the farmers' free list was passed at the same time, the Canadian reciprocity agreement would be an injury or unfair to the farming classes. Nothing could be further from the truth, in my judgment. The Canadian reciprocity agreement will greatly aid the farming classes, both in the north and in the south. Certainly, it cannot have the slightest deleterious effect upon the southern farmers, for the southern farmer raises only cotton, corn, hogs and vegetables, and in respect to none of these will the exports of Canada to the United States come into the slightest competition, while everything that that farmer raises, except possibly raw cotton, will be the subject of export into Canada.

"The farmers' free list, so-called, puts upon the free list a number of articles used by the southern farmers only, like cotton bagging and cotton ties. And I have heard it suggested, on behalf of certain senators from the southern states, that they could not vote for reciprocity unless it ranked in some way with the farmers' free list.

"It was said for them that if they could count on having the bills come up in the senate in the same way they had come up in the house, when they could relieve their consciences and justify themselves to their constituents by a vote in favor of the farmers' free list and free cotton bagging and cotton ties, after the reciprocity bill had passed. But they present the proposition that in the senate the situation is different from what it was in the house. They say that the farmers' free list has gone into the finance committee, a majority of which is quite unfavorable to the farmers' free list and will prevent it being reported out to the senate at all. They cannot, therefore, secure a vote on the farmers' free list without voting to put it on the reciprocity bill as an amendment.

How They Will Justify Themselves.

"In this way they will justify themselves to their constituents and vindicate their consciences by voting for the farmers' free list at the same time they vote for reciprocity. They, therefore, propose, either before or after the bill comes into the senate, to put an amendment on it with the farmers' free list. The objection to this is, first, that the farmers' free list has no relevancy at all to the Canadian reciprocity agreement, because it affects imports from all the world and is a general tariff revision, having nothing whatever to do with the contract which we have made with Canada. The second objection and the more serious, is that if it is voted on to the reciprocity agreement it will drive away from the support of the reciprocity agreement a great number of votes, enough to defeat the agreement. This, it seems to me, ought to prove an insurmountable objection to voting a free list as an amendment to reciprocity.

"Those who are sincerely and earnestly in favor of reciprocity and yet favor the farmers' free list, ought to be able to take some other method of vindicating themselves than to defeat reciprocity by amending it with the free list. It is not seen why they may not, in voting against the free list as an amendment to reciprocity, explain their votes sufficiently so that their constituents can understand their desire to adopt reciprocity and secure part of what they wish without endangering and losing the whole. If they wish to make a record, it is not understood why they might not, by moving to discharge the committee which has the farmers' free list bill under consideration, show by their vote upon the motion to discharge their approval of the bill and their desire for its passage.

Taft Wants Southern Aid.

"In other words, what I am anxious to do is to secure the aid of you gentlemen, interested largely in southern industries and having senators in congress representing you, to call upon your senators to act in the most direct and effective way to secure the passage of the reciprocity bill and to assure your senators that they will not lose standing and that their earnest and sincere desire to aid the farmer by the passage of the farmers' free list will not be questioned because they refuse to vote it onto the reciprocity agreement and burden that agreement in such a way as certainly to defeat it.

"The truth is, the situation in the senate is one that can be described as calling for the bill, the whole bill, and nothing but the bill. May I not ask you all, as Americans, as southerners, as southern cotton men and as southern cotton seed men, to exert yourselves through this organization and every other practical way to urge upon and to demand of your senators that if they really favor reciprocity—as I sincerely believe most of them do—they shall take the best and most direct way to secure its passage.

"I hope you will not think that I have abused your hospitality by making this appeal. My justification for it is the conviction that I could not urge you to any course better adapted to increase your present prosperity and to add to the marvelous progress which the people of all sections, with gratified and unenvious eyes have seen developed in the south."

President Taft after he had concluded his address kept his place and listened to the other speakers of the evening, among whom was Governor Dix. It was late when the banquet ended and the president was driven direct to the Pennsylvania Terminal and entered his special car which was attached to the 12:30 o'clock train for Washington.

NO FIGHT TO BE MADE ON THE NEGRO LEWIS

Washington, June 8.—(Special.)—The name of William H. Lewis, the Boston negro named by President Taft as assistant attorney general of the United States, was reported to the senate today from the judiciary committee by Senator Root.

Lewis was not confirmed today, but southern democrats show no disposition to take any vigorous measures to delay confirmation, although the position carries with it a social position of considerable prominence.

"If the appointee were assigned to work in the south, we would object," said a southern democratic senator. "Or if he were assigned to duty in a northern community to which he was objectionable, we would aid in preventing confirmation. But under the circumstances we will not exert any effort to prevent or delay action."

W. U. EMPLOYEES ARE BANQUETED

Flashing with bright gleams of wit amid the merry click of silver and china, the local employees of the Western Union Telegraph Company were last night tendered their annual "get together" dinner at the Capital City Club by the company.

The guests numbered 125, including William J. Francis, general manager, and other prominent officials of the company.

The tables were placed in the ball room, in the form of a horseshoe, with the speakers on the outside of the curve. Dotted here and there were attractive menu cards, and there was a lively dash for the tables when the doors were opened.

The key to the evening was given by W. H. Adkin, general contract agent of the Bell Telephone Company, in a happy little speech as toastmaster. He signalled the speakers in a very unexpected manner, but not a one failed to respond, or "respectfully referred" him to another. Among the humorous impromptu talks were the following:

"How I Did It"—J. S. Calvert, district superintendent, Richmond, Va.

"Why?"—L. J. Amsden, chief clerk to the general superintendent.

"Origin of the Phrase, 'To Hell With It'"—L. B. Thompson, electrician of the southern division.

"Push"—H. C. Worthen, general superintendent of the southern division.

"Recollections of 30 Years Ago"—G. W. Lloyd, commercial superintendent.

"The Correct Position of the Tongue to Swear in Dutch"—J. J. Heefman, division auditor.

"Ladies"—E. E. Williams, superintendent of the Western Union.

"What's the Use?"—L. H. Beck, division plant superintendent.

"Respectfully Referred"—J. P. Edwards, special agent of equipment.

Various other guests were called on and "30" was heard with regret. The splendid supper and faultless appointments, which had had the personal care of Manager Richardson, of the club, were the source of many compliments and expressions of delight.

4 LIVES GIVEN TO SAVE CHILD

Picnickers Swept Under When They Plunge in Stream to Save Tot.

Hattiesburg, Miss., June 8.—Four persons, a woman, two boys and a girl, lost their lives today in an effort to save the life of a little 5-year-old girl who had ventured out too far while wading in Bowie river 2 miles north of here.

The dead:

Mrs. B. C. Tanner, wife of B. C. Tanner, machinist in the Mississippi Central railroad shops in this city.

Ernest Tanner, aged 12.

Henry Tanner, aged 15, son of Mrs. Tanner.

Annie Coursey, 7 years old, daughter of J. B. Coursey, a local merchant.

The party was attending a picnic given by a Sunday school, and left the grounds to go in wading in the river. The water was shallow where they went in, but Pearl Coursey, a sister of the drowned girl, stepped into deep water and was about to drown when Mrs. Tanner and the other victims made a desperate effort to reach her. They were all swept from their feet by the swift current and drowned. The little girl whose life they had tried to save was rescued. The bodies of all the victims were recovered.

TARIFF ON WOOL WON'T BE REDUCED

So Says Secretary of National Association of Wool Growers.

Pendleton, Ore., June 8.—Assurance that wool growers have nothing to fear from the proposed downward move of the tariff was received yesterday by Dan P. Smythe, secretary of the Oregon state Wool Growers' Association, in a letter from Dr. S. W. McClure, secretary of the National Wool Growers' Association, who has been in the national capital.

The letter says in part:

"I have gone over the situation in Washington very carefully, and feel safe in assuring your wool growers that there will be no legislation affecting the tariff passed at the present session of congress.

"The bill should not affect the wool market, for it will never become a law. Please advise your wool growers not to sacrifice their clip, for there is every reason to believe better prices will be received later in the season."

BANKERS FAVOR A CENTRAL BANK

Aldrich-Vreeland Bill Indorsed By Association.

Annual Convention of Georgia Bankers Opened at Tybee With Large Attendance--Congressman Vreeland Addresses the Convention.

Savannah, Ga., June 8.—By a unanimous vote, the Georgia State Bankers' Association, in convention at Tybee, this afternoon indorsed the Aldrich-Vreeland central bank bill.

The association began its annual convention at Hotel Tybee this morning.

Mr. W. W. Osborne, president of the association, delivered his annual address, in which he came out strongly in favor of a central bank under government control. Although he did not entirely indorse the Aldrich-Vreeland plan for such an institution, mainly because it makes inadequate provision for caring for state banks, he spoke very strongly in favor of the government having some central financial institution along the line suggested in the Aldrich-Vreeland measure.

Mr. Osborne said the idea that Andrew Jackson, when president, was opposed to a central bank was erroneous. All his messages showed that while he opposed the inauguration of such a central bank as was proposed at that time, he did not declare himself against the main idea of the institution of such an agency.

Hon. Edward B. Vreeland, congressman from New York, and vice chairman of the United States monetary commission, spoke to the bankers in behalf of the measure of which he is the joint author with ex-Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island.

Satisfactory reports were heard from Treasurer E. C. Smith, of Griffin; Secretary L. P. Hillyer, of Macon; Association Counsel A. O. Park, of Macon, and J. W. Heffernan, chairman of the association's executive committee.

The election of officers will come with tomorrow morning's session. There will be a big banquet tomorrow night at Hotel Tybee when the bankers will be the guests of President Mills B. Lane, of the Citizens' and Southern bank.

Vreeland Points Out Defects.

Congressman Vreeland's address on the need of a sound financial system in the United States was heard with interest by the bankers.

"What is our banking system and what are its defects?" he asked.

"The trouble with our system is that it breaks down in time of financial stress. It lacks cohesion. There is nothing to bind it together.

"Our money system lacks elasticity. It does not go up or down with the business of the country.

"Of what does the money of this country consist? We have about $1,750,000,000 of gold. This cannot suddenly be increased, and gold is not a money with which to move crops, but a basis for a bank not issue. We have about $725,000,000 in silver. This is fixed in amount. We have $850,000,000 in greenbacks. This is fixed in amount. Upon what should we depend, then, for the great amounts of money that should come into existence to meet the demands of business, and to go out of existence when the demand is over? It is evident that we should depend upon bank notes, but under our defective system the volume of our bank notes has no relation to the needs of business. They are dependent upon the price of government bonds. We shall never have an elastic system until our bank notes are based upon gold and commercial paper, as they are in every other great nation."

Mr. Vreeland spoke disparingly of the nation's reserve system. He said it should be called "A System to Create Panics." "That has been the effect of it," he declared. "The United States is the only country where banks are required to carry large cash reserves against their deposits.

"Ours is the only system which breaks down in time of need.

"The great banks of New York City today act as the central bank of the country. They are not equipped with the proper functions to perform this duty.

"The two great reforms then in our system is to have a currency based upon gold and commercial paper which will be responsive to the needs of business. This increase and decrease should be automatic.

Central Bank Solves Problem.

"We cannot adopt the Canadian system because it is based upon branch banking. A mobilization of a part of a reserve, say four or five hundred million dollars in the hands of some central organization where it can be used instantly and in overwhelming quantities whenever needed. These two principles have been adopted by every civilized nation in the world, except our own, although the method of applying them varies in different countries. What we must do is to adopt these financial principles and adapt them to the needs of the United States.

"It must be absolutely plain to our people that neither of these things can happen, and that the paper money issued shall be as good as the present bond secured currency."

Discussing the Aldrich currency plan Mr. Vreeland said: "Senator Aldrich, chairman of the monetary commission, has made a skillful compilation of the best thought and discussion of the last three years in the form of a concrete plan of organization. The legislative committee of the American Bankers' Association, composed of more than twenty prominent bankers representing all sections of the United States, after careful study, has pronounced the plan fundamentally sound.

"This plan creates a National Reserve Association, located in Washington, with an authorized capital of $300,000,000. It can do business only with banks and with the government.

"The management of the National Reserve Association, as contemplated by the Aldrich plan, is decentralized so that the whole country is equitably represented.

"Under the plan the country is divided into fifteen districts.

"The dividends which the Reserve Association may pay to stockholders, are limited to 5 per cent. The balance of the association's earnings go into the treasury of the United States. No interest shall be paid upon deposits. The association may deal in commercial paper and in bonds backed by the taxing power, but no other kind. It may issue bank notes upon 40 per cent in gold in its vaults, and commercial paper indorsed by banks.

"It is exactly the opposite in principle from the United States bank of Jackson's time. That bank was a great friend of monopoly.

"The National Reserve Association is exactly opposite in principle. It will be created for the purpose of fighting and preventing monopoly.

"The rates upon loans made by the National Reserve Association are to be uniform throughout the United States.

"The reform of our banking currency system must be kept out of politics."

ANTE-BELLUM PLANTATION SOLD FOR SUM OF $180,000

Cordele, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—Clerk J. A. Littlejohn, of the superior court of Crisp county, today recorded the biggest deed in the history of the county so far as the number of acres of land involved is concerned and one of the biggest in the amount of money involved. It was the deed of the Huguenin farm, embracing 11,000 acres, made by Mrs. M. F. Johnson, of Macon, to Furr & Morris, of South Carolina, the consideration named being $180,000.

The deed was signed by Mrs. Johnson during April at Rome, Italy, and was witnessed by the vice American consul to that country.

This historic old slavery-time farm, which only during recent years was settled up among the heirs and has lately been cut up into smaller farms and is rapidly being settled, embraces some of the most beautiful and valuable farm lands in the counties of Sumter and Crisp on either side of Flint river.

PERFECTS LINTLESS COTTON WITH DOUBLE OIL VALUE

Bullochville, Ga., June 8.—(Special.) J. J. Stranahan, superintendent of the Cold Springs station of the United States bureau of fisheries at this place, has, as the result of experiments he has carried on for the past four years, succeeded in producing a cotton that is practically lintless. His last year's crop contained less than five stalks to the hundred which contained lint in even a small degree.

Mr. Stranahan is something of a farmer as well as fishculturist. With his brothers, who live in Cleveland, Ohio, he has extensive peach orchards on Pine mountain, from which they shipped sixty cars of Elbertas last year, their fruit having a great reputation in eastern cities owing to very thorough cultivation, spraying, thinning and more especially through the precooling of their fruit, they having the only house for precooling peaches in the country, it holding twelve cars when loaded to the limit.

He is working through selection to procure not only cotton that is lintless, but that has large bolls well filled with large plump seeds that are much richer in oil than the ordinary cotton seed which is associated with lint.

Having succeeded in producing the lintless cotton, Mr. Stranahan is now at work through selection in producing a cotton plant that shall be tall and slim in order that the fiber from the stalk shall be longer and more desirable, one that will hold its seed until all are ripe instead of "shattering" the seed from the first ripening bolls, or to make the cotton plant early and ripening up all of its bolls at once, thus making it possible to secure the whole crop of seed instead of having a portion of the more early ripened lost on the ground.

It seems that the plant is helping the matter along as if it "knew its business," and that since it is not supposed to produce lint, it should put its fiber on to the stalk, as in the case of hemp or flax, that its yield of seed should be far greater than as if lint also was to be produced and that this seed should be richer in oil.

All this Mr. Strahahan claims has been measurably accomplished and he claims that within ten more years he expects to produce a cotton that will yield 100 bushels of clean black seed to the acre and fiber from the stalks that will be of as much value as the lint from an ordinary crop, and that the seed will be very much richer in both oil and feed value than the cotton seed as we now know it.

He does not wish to make money out of this work, but to leave it as a heritage to his adopted state and will be glad to send a few seed free, as long as they last, to anyone who will help work out this problem by careful selection along the lines he is pursuing.

BIG AUDIENCE FAVORS PRIMARY

Athens, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—While in the midst of the part of his speech here tonight relative to the popular primary for senator and while scoring the situation which throws the election into the legislature, Thomas E. Watson called for a vote of the audience on the question. Three-fourths of the audience of 3,600 rose favoring a primary and there was not a vote against it.

Mr. Watson declared in reply to an inquiry from an auditor that he would accept the senatorship if the legislature should elect him; that he would make the sacrifice to perform what he believes to be a duty in that case. He had been asked if he would take the place if the legislature tendered it to him.

Mr. Watson spoke against the present method of conducting foreign missions, spoke for education, but against compulsory education; championed the printing of school books for the children by the state as the law books are printed for the lawyers.

The audience was a large one, many from out of town being present.

It was rumored that Mr. Charles Rowland, of Athens, head of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in the south, would appear and reply to Mr. Watson on missions, but he did not attend the speaking.

MAKES CASE AGAINST SELF

Athens, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—"I have nothing to say; and I am not at liberty to give out the letter written to Miss Parrish. She makes out the case against herself." This is the statement of Colonel Thomas J. Shackelford, president of the board of trustees of the State Normal school, this evening in allusion to the interview given out by Miss Celeste Parrish, who was dropped from the teaching force of the institution as head of the pedagogy department.

Mr. Shackelford admitted that he wrote a letter to Miss Parrish after her dismissal by the board. He states that the letter was accepted as a personal letter by Miss Parrish and says further that he did not write to her in the capacity of president of the board. Just what is in that letter might make interesting reading.

It is declared by Colonel Shackelford's friends that he was among the staunchest friends of Miss Parrish in the discussion of her case, holding out for offering her a traveling position for the school, proposing a European trip for special study of the school systems of the old countries and till the very last endeavoring to find some way of compromise, so as to avoid the unpleasantness which has arisen since the board decided not to re-elect Miss Parrish. After the board meeting, Mr. Shackelford very promptly and very frankly stated the reasons for the action of the board when interviewed as president of that body.

The prudential board of the trustees of the State Normal School are to meet tomorrow, according to the statement of President Shackelford. The committee does not meet till Saturday, according to another member of that committee. The prudential committee, which is composed of Athens men entirely, with the exception of the state school commissioner, meets in emergency cases, and it is believed that the meeting bears on the situation at the Normal school by the resignation of a number of teachers, though members of the committee seen will not state what the extraordinary meeting is for. One states that there has been only one resignation of a teacher of the Normal school—Miss Harrison. The other resignations are by teachers in the practice school, and are, he says, girls.

There are expected some sensations when the committee meets.

How to Get to GEIGER

Geiger is located in the northern part of Sumter county, Alabama, on the new Alabama, Tennessee and Northern railroad, and when this line of railroad is completed it will be the shortest rail line from the coal and iron fields of the Birmingham district to the Gulf of Mexico. This insures for Geiger and this section quick handling of all classes of freight at competing rates. To the west is the Mobile and Ohio railway, connected with Geiger by splendid public roads, and to the south is the Queen and Crescent Route, also connected by fine public roads. Near the town is the Noxubee river, affording water transportation during the winter and spring months.

The best way now to Geiger from Birmingham and North Alabama is via Tuscaloosa and Reform, thence over the A., T. & N. to Geiger. Connections are made at each point.

The road-workers of 1912 are getting on the job.

And then, too, this blazing time is such a windfall to the ice trust.

Georgia's model legislature will soon be a lesson to the country.

However, it is the very weather to create a run on the river banks.

To escape a fine for a joy-ride, order your airship and get off the earth.

Even the sugar trust has reached "the wormwood and the gall" stage.

The lumber trust wasn't wise, and "kept the saw in the log" to little purpose.

After all, those "seventeen-year-locusts" may be presidential bees in disguise.

Airships that know how to land safely are as rare as sea serpents with wings.

The bathing-suit joke is here, as usual, but is as brief as the bathing suit itself.

However, the sting of a Jersey mosquito is not as fatal as that of a presidential bee.

The boy who graduates in the dead languages is, nevertheless, a very live proposition.

The philosopher who can "forget it," with the mercury sky-high, is not of this earth.

There will be no sane Fourth if the weather is the swearing proposition it is at present.

By the by, Colonel Roosevelt has not "declined to be a candidate for any office" in a whole week.

However, the use of the shorter and uglier word doesn't imply a comeback for the Colonel.

Suggestions to legislators are in order, and many will help the weather to make it hot for them.

Cheer up. Only kings have to wear heavy coronation robes with the mercury rising like dynamite.

In the present state of affairs Senator Lodge will hardly repeat his famous saying that "Trusts are myths."

Mr. Bryan says, "We are too much from home." One of Mr. Bryan's homes seems to be a Pullman car.

Dr. Wylie advises against ice cream; so there's nothing to do except to cool off with the immortal julep.

Trouble is, in the vacation season the board bills from the summer resorts never reach Father by slow freight.

"Are we so soon forgot?" No one has attributed the recent earthquake shocks to anything Colonel Roosevelt has said.

Of course, the Colonel "hasn't indorsed any presidential candidate for 1912." He's "on the road" a great deal himself these days.

"A man was hurt, the other day, by the explosion of a golf ball. We never got near enough to a golf ball to be thrown in the air, but we are always in the thick of the battle where high-balls are exploding."

THE COLONEL'S DISCLAIMER.

With usual vehemence Colonel Roosevelt brands as false the report that he would support President Taft for renomination. The original story had been sent out the day before, seemingly well authenticated. It got fine position on newspaper first pages, and gave the real friends of the president one of the happiest half hours they have enjoyed in many political moons.

And now comes the colonel, and incontinently clubs the yarn to death.

Whereupon, speculation will take a fresh grip on the situation and chew away with growing assiduity. What does it all mean? Does the speark of ambition yet linger in the colonel's bosom? Does he think the present turbid status will eventually resolve itself into "Roosevelt in 1912!" regardless of the iniquitous third-term precedent? Or does he want to "hold out" until he can tell whether it will be best to support an out-and-out "insurgent?"

Nobody knows. For a talkative man, the colonel is most secretive, and the gods haven't yet cast the dice for 1912.

Meanwhile—it's summer, republicans and near-republicans, democrats and almost-democrats are perspiringly contending for political advantage, and everybody is as welcome to his guess as the flowers that bloom in the spring.

THE DEATH OF MRS. RICHARD PETERS.

Death must ever be melancholy. But sunshine rides the clouds when death comes as it came to Mrs. Richard Peters, a noble and notable "mother in Israel," finding her as sweet and placid and smiling and unafraid as in every crisis of a remarkable life that spanned eight decades. Knowing that the end was near she bade good-by to each of the family at her bedside and went to eternal sleep as sweetly as if retiring for the night.

A few months ago, The Constitution made editorial comment of the eightieth birthday of Mrs. Peters, celebrated in the rich homage of numerous children and grandchildren and great-grandchildren, each succeeding generation having woven itself fast into the fabric of this city, and representatives of each generation standing out for conspicuous achievement and worthy citizenship.

Her connection with Atlanta is unique. Her father, Joseph Thompson, was more than pioneer—he may be called one of the progenitors of Atlanta, for he was a factor here before Atlanta was Atlanta. Her husband was intimately identified with the earlier and struggling years of the village that was headed toward metropolitanism. And her sons and grandsons and daughters and granddaughters have fulfilled the family tradition and written history in each era of Atlanta, as some of them have in high capacities in other parts of the country. Surely, an unusual woman—one whose sturdiness and breadth and sweetness of character typify the words—"wife" and "mother."

WOODROW WILSON'S CLEAR VISION.

Passing through Washington en route home after his "friend-making" tour of the west, Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, gave out an interview expressing characteristically sound views on the national political situation. He approved the action of the democratic caucus regarding schedule K, and asked regarding the forthcoming presidential campaign, he said:

Men everywhere seem to be of the same mind. The next campaign is going to mark the partial obliteration of old-time political lines. It is going to be a campaign of men and measures, rather than a campaign of parties.

The people are going to vote for a man whom they believe will carry out the things for which they stand, rather than a man who professes to represent the principles of one of the parties. There is a mild distinction, you know, between principles and measures.

Way back during the special session that made the Aldrich-Payne-Smoot tariff, and that unmade Uncle Joe Cannon and the republican party, The Constitution uttered opinions practically paralleling those of Governor Wilson. It was, then, a question whether the two old party designations would last through the congressional elections, and whether the first session of the new congress would not hold members of parties sailing under brand-new labels.

Time leaves the situation still muddled as to nomenclature, but not as to principles. Govern Wilson is right. The next campaign is going to see a subordination of party lines to issues. Already, the signs are in evidence. The people are caring less about political divisions, and more about results. They are finding a new test for parties and politicians—a test composed wholly of sincerity and of principle.

Unless the party and the politician measures up, both are likely to go by the board. It may not be exactly that statesmanship is returning; it is more probable the people, being awakened, are demanding more of their servants.

The men now in charge of the democracy seem to have admirably sensed these facts. Conceding the situation remains unchanged for another year, the democracy may safely appeal to the people upon the strength of the wares it has to offer—regardless of the name-plate.

FACTS ABOUT RABIES.

Officials of the state board of health have several times recently warned the people of Georgia against the prevailing danger of hydrophobia. Applications for treatment and for serum are sufficiently numerous to indicate that the disease is showing its customary frequency in Georgia.

A fiction held by many people is that hydrophobia is only menacing in summer. It is as easy to contract it on the coldest as the hottest day of the year. The main point is that in summer dogs run more at large. Dogs being the chief vehicles for distributing the disease, summer precautions are even more imperative than winter precautions.

The principle to be most strongly borne in mind is not to trifle with a bite from any dog, or any animal. Go at once to the nearest competent physician. He will give the proper direction for ascertaining if the animal is, or had been, suffering from rabies. Never destroy the body of an animal suspected of having had hydrophobia. Wait until it can be examined by the proper authorities. Take the preventive Pasteur treatment at the earliest possible moment. If you haven't hydrophobia, it can't hurt you. And if the germs are lurking in your system, the chances are ninety-nine out of a hundred that it will kill them before they get a grip on you.

Avoid panic. It is about the most senseless and dangerous procedure in the face of a disease so easily controlled when duly taken in hand.

CARDINAL GIBBONS--A RELIGIOUS STATESMAN

The other day President Taft, former President Roosevelt, Chief Justice White, Speaker Clark and other national dignitaries journeyed to Baltimore and paid hono. to James Cardinal Gibbons. There was nothing sectarian, nothing denominational, nothing political about the occasion. All creeds and many votaries mingled in doing homage to a remarkable and venerable man who has held aloft the torch of clean citizenship, appealing even to those to whom his religion has no meaning.

Perhaps the universal sentiment was best expressed by President Taft, himself a Unitarian, when he said:

We are not here as members of any denomination. We are not here in any official capacity. But we are here to recognize and honor in him his high virtues as a patriotic member of our political community and one who through his long and useful life has spared no efforts in the cause of good citizenship and the uplifting of his fellowmen.

The significance of the president's words, and the gathering at which they were spoken, is that we have reached that national breadth that does not let religious divergence interfere with admiration of manhood and good citizenship.

"JUST FROM GEORGIA"

In the Blazing Weather.

I.

In the blazin' weather, when you hear the thunder roll,
Just think about the fellers that have wintered at the pole.

II.

Drink juleps with the Eskimo and never ask the price!

III.

Yet, though it's real provokin'—when you hear the thunder-drums,
If a feller melts in summer, never freeze when winter comes!

Nuggets by the Wayside.

If you can't whistle along the way you can say "Amen" when the other fellow strikes the right tune.

Some folks dream of the gold in the mountains of the moon, but what's the use, when you can't rise to it in an airship?

The old world is always happy on the way, but lots of folks in it look at the hallelula days through smoked glasses.

The Long Reach.

We can get along on little, but we're reachin' after much.

We want earth's wealth
In golden bars,
And all the gold dust
Of the stars.

The silver of the sunrise, in beauty coming on,
But ere we reap its riches it's "Goodby!" and we're gone!

But still we chase
The fleeting gleam,
And leave the green world
In a dream.

Just to "Let Him Know."

"This is to let you know," wrote the Billville citizen, "that two runaway automobiles run foul o' the settlement—last Tuesday was a week—an' you hain't got no mule or Jersey cow now, as both of 'em was in the way o' the automobiles, an' was knocked out o' the way; also, that one o' the automobiles made more room in yer house by runnin' through it an' movin' the pianner to the back yard. The other one wasn't satisfied with the way the chimney sot an' demolished it entire; then, both of 'em give a circus performance of tryin' to climb a tree, an' numerous other stunts—as they say."

"A Frosty Holiday."

I.

Take yer summer—yer blooms of May:
Give me a frosty holiday!
Merry voice to voice replyin'—
Red sparks up the chimney flyin'!
Happy when it comes my way,
One clear, frosty holiday!

II.

Indian summer days too still:
Let the rough wind have his will!
When he scampers round the place
I'm for runnin' him a race!
I'm in runnin' trim—hooray!
Any frosty holiday!

An Inveterate Growler.

"The time is running away from us," he said.

"Oh, yes," replied the grouchy one, "an' them that's got the rheumatism can't keep up with it!"

"Well, we should all be thankful it's as well as it is with us."

"Oh, yes. But if we had turkey every day in the year the house couldn't hold the visitors, an' there wouldn't be enough to go 'round!"

Gossip at the Capitol

New Depot for Villa Rica.

Villa Rica, on the Southern railroad, desires a new depot, and Villa Rica will very probably have its wants satisfied. Chairman Warner Hill and C. Murphy Candler, of the railroad commission, spent yesterday at that point looking over the situation and considering the advisability of having the railroad build the new station.

Webster Visits Savannah.

J. Prince Webster, rate expert of the railroad commission, went to Savannah yesterday to investigate some rate questions in which the commission is interested. He will return Monday.

Boost for Ashburn.

John B. Hutcheson, formerly of Jonesboro and Atlanta, who is now practicing law at Ashburn, the county site of Turner county, is in the city for a few days, a guest of the Kimball. "Ashburn in the new county of Turner," said Mr. Hutcheson, yesterday, "is moving along nicely. We have two railroads now and a third line is building into the city. Our real estate is commanding almost fancy prices, while out in the country farming lands can't be bought. Turner county has developed into a great grain county, and we are raising fifty to sixty, and even more, bushels of oats to the acre without any trouble. Our people are turning their attention, too, to stock raising, and that line of industry is proving profitable."

Talks About Atlanta

Would Never Play.

(From The Lineville (Ala.) Headlight.)

The Atlanta lawyers who have organized a baseball team will, no doubt, object and demur to the decisions of the umpire, and even file briefs on exceptions reserved thereto.

Wrestling With the Fly.

(From The Chattanooga (Tenn.) News.)

Atlanta is wrestling with the typhoid fly. An ordinance requiring salable foodstuffs to be screened is pending. It would be a mighty fine thing if screens were used by grocers, butchers, bakers and restaurant proprietors everywhere.

Will Be Going Some.

(From The Richmond (Va.) Leader.)

"Atlanta, Ga." is raising the question whether it shall "go after" the next national democratic convention. Atlanta will certainly go for it, if it gets it.

Two Sides.

(From The Norfolk (Va.) Dispatch.)

The Atlanta council is asked to prohibit the harem skirt, but there are two sides to that proposition.

The Harem Skirt.

(From The Gainesville (Fla.) Sun.)

Atlanta leads off with an ordinance prohibiting the wearing of a harem skirt on the streets of the city. Now Apalachicola is not built that way. We are a free people, and will welcome with open arms the harem skirted damsels who are forced to flee from puritanical Georgia. — Apalachicola Times.

Here too, Bro. Johnston. While we have never seen a woman attired in a harem skirt, we feel quite confident those garments are preferable to the sidewalk sweepers now in vogue.

Not Inconsistent.

(From The Greenville (S. C.) News.)

An Atlanta preacher upbraids that city for talking about Atlanta "spirit" when beer saloons and blind tigers are allowed to achieve such prosperity. From this distance, we can't see anything inconsistent about it.

MISS PARRISH IS LAUDED BY ATHENS CLUB WOMEN

Club Records Its Esteem for Her Lofty Character and Intellectual Qualities.

Athens, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—The Athens Woman's Club has just passed unanimously resolutions of regret on account of the severance of the connection of Miss Celeste Parrish with the Normal school located here and the probability that Miss Parrish may move from Athens.

In the resolution the club "records its high esteem of the lofty character and superb intellectual qualities of Miss Parrish, its grateful appreciation of her self-sacrificing zeal, the wise manner and the great success with which she has engaged to a degree in the activities of the club, particularly those connected with its educational work, its great admiration of her brilliant achievements and her untiring and successful efforts in the service of the women and children of the state of Georgia."

PHILATHEAS OPPOSE SUNDAY BASEBALL

Georgia Union Elects Officers, Selects Atlanta as Next Meeting Place and Adjourns.

Macon, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—After passing a resolution pledging its members to oppose any attempt of the next legislature to legalize Sunday baseball and other sports, and selecting Atlanta as the next meeting place, the Georgia State Philathea Union eleced officers and adjourned.

The officers elected are: President, Miss Lena Bird, Athens; first vice president, Mrs. Marshall Durrett, Macon; second vice president, Miss Nannie Steele, Albany; recording secretary, Miss Ila Lee, Brunswick; corresponding secretary, Miss Susie Newton, Atlanta; treasurer, Miss Mamie Lou Huff, Columbus. These officers with Miss Mattie Deubler retiring president, of Dawson, and Miss Ellen Morgan, of Savannah, compose the executive committee.

The convention declared that the ensignia shall be worn only as pins and not in various forms of jewelry as now is the case.

ITALIAN "MASHERS" ARE HEAVILY FINED

Foreigners Punished for Improper Attention to Girls on Streets of Rome.

Rome, Ga., June 8.—(Special)—Frank Young and Joseph Pompunella, two Italian barbers who came to Rome about three weeks ago and have been working at a local shop, were fined $200 each this morning by Recorder Yancey for following four young ladies up and down Broad street and making remarks as they passed. Their actions led to a fight between the barbers and two Rome young men and, when they were brought before the recorder, the above heavy fine was placed upon them.

A Reverie.

Like the dimples on her cheek,
Precious, pure, divinely meek,
Playing back and forth in tune,
Run my thoughts of Grace, in June.

Grace! the source of all my strength,
(Can she bring me death, at length?)
Would to God she saw me now,
While in loneliness I bow!

Fool am I, who sit and dream!
Doubtless now the love-lights gleam—
Here is just the love to rest
Only when in fondness press'd.

THERE'S MORE HONOR IN SERVICE THAN IN TITLE, SAYS BARRETT

Union City, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—President Charles S. Barrett in a statement today tells officers and members of the Farmers' Union that there's more honor in service than in title, and advises them to ask themselves if they've kept the faith. Mr. Barrett's card follows:

Selfishness is the bane of politics, and of every organization, the Farmers' Union not excluded. We are gradually scourging it from the Farmers' Union. There's less of it among the leaders than ever before. But the purging must be complete before the order reaches the effectiveness destined for it by the national needs it seeks to supply.

Here is an illustration: I know politicians high in favor and in office who could have served the people with twice the efficiency had they stayed out of office. The minute a man begins to run for office his nobler and broader qualities are likely to suffer. He finds himself compromising with his convictions, when they run counter to his opportunities. He finds his mouth closed in denouncing abuses that work to the harm of the people, because those who perpetrate them may be able to injure him. He makes countless enemies of powerful and good individuals that otherwise he could have kept in line for the public good had he not injected the bitter virus of partisanship.

The man who would serve the farmer can most often do it best by remaining out of politics. You will have no difficulty recalling men of powerful mentality who could have been of inestimable service to the public weal, had they not tied themselves to the wheel of politics.

There is such a thing as statesmanship in private life. The leader of the farmer, in or out of organization, must train up to that sort of statesmanship, the first requisite of which is the submerging of selfish ambitions for the general welfare.

You leaders among the farmers, have you kept the faith? Has your every effort and energy been directed toward bettering the condition of the farmer or yourself? Would you make for the farmer the sacrifices you have made for yourselves? If you have not, and would not, it is unlikely you will ever be able to give the brand of service that will be truly effectual, and that will write your name in history.

Are you in the order for glory and selfish advancement, or to so strengthen it by your devotion and abilities that it will further the interests of the farming masses of this country? You would not allow yourself to become easily discouraged if you were working for your own aggrandizement or prosperity. Will you allow yourself to become discouraged when you are working for the aggrandizement and prosperity of the farmer?

Here is this man of the acres who has suffered and been neglected these centuries, and who is just coming into his own. Are you able to point out to him his frailities, and have you the courage to do it? Have you the bravery to stick to his cause when, in misunderstanding and temporary pettishness, he smashes you? Are you broad enough to remain fighting by his side when you believe he is in the wrong, but knows he needs you none the less?

We have solved some big problems for the farmer in the past six years. We will need to solve still larger ones in th efuture. You must strip for the battle. Unselfishness must be your motto. Self-control must be your guidon. Hanging on in the face of defeat, and keeping your head in the flush of victory must be your program.

I admit the program is a hard one. But when you consider the immensity of the field you are working in, and that in this particular vineyard the "laborers are indeed few," you will understand more thoroughly the necessity of the qualities I have outlined.

HE BOUGHT KISSES AND CARESSES WITH LOANS OF FROM $60 TO $600

Chicago, June 8.—Thomas Foulkes, of Danbury, Iowa, the wealthy farmer who has been prosecuting his former fiancee, Miss Lodavine Miller, and her brother, Attorney J. Marion Miller, on charges of defrauding him out of $11,812 and two farms, won his case today in the criminal court.

Foulkes told a remarkable tale of what he characterized as a "financial wooing." He said he bought kisses and caresses from the object of his affections with loans of from $50 to $600, and that after he had lost the amount of money named in his suit, and after his two farms had followed the money, his charmer had advised him to go to California, read the Bible constantly and marry a widow. He added that it took him six years to discover that his affections were not returned.

The brother was accused of having planned the alleged raid on Foulkes.

NOTICE SERVED OF NEW CHARTER

Commission Committee Advertises So That Bill May Go to Legislature.

Notice has been served on the world-at-large that the next legislature is to be asked to allow Atlantans to vote on a commission charter, and because of this notification Atlanta's commission government bill may now be legally introduced on July 8.

On yesterday morning a notice was posted in the ordinary's office at the court house and late irn the day appeared in the paper carrying the legal advertisements for the county.

This notice read:

"Notice is hereby given of the intention to apply to the legislative session of Georgia, 1911, for the passage of an act, the title of which shall be as follows:

"'A bill to be entitled, an act to establish a new charter for the city of Atlanta; to create a form of commission government for said city; to provide for the submission of the same to the voters of said city, and for other purposes.'"

The last paragraph of the notice is the caption of the bill for commission government, which will go to the legislature. Under the law requiring the publication of a notice for thirty days before the introduction of such a bill, it is specified that only the caption of the bill need be published.

This being the case, Alex King, a member of the committee chosen to formulate a commission charter, drafted the caption of the bill at the request of the remainder of the committee and began the necessary advertisement Thursday afternoon.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Bibb County Law and Order League.

MASTER PLUMBERS HOLD CONVENTION IN ATLANTA

The annual convention of the master plumbers of Georgia was held at the Piedmont hotel on Wednesday, when the annual election of officers occurred and delegates to the national convention of plumbers, which will be held in Galveston, Texas, June 13-17, chosen.

The first meeting of the plumbers was held Wednesday morning in the Piedmont convention hall, when a delegation from Savannah invited the plumbers to meet in their city next year. They declared that an appropriation had been made to cover the expenses of such a convention, and the invitation was accepted, the meeting to be held in June, 1912.

The delegates were the guests of the Atlanta plumbers on Wednesday afternoon at the ball game, and at night were entertained at a banquet at Durand's. At the morning session the following officers were elected for the coming year: A. M. Smith, Atlanta, president; F. W. Campos, Savannah, vice president; B. B. Van Houten, Macon, secretary. Delegates to the national convention, D. W. Yarbrough, Atlanta, and B. B. Van Houten.

Long's Friends Stand by Him.

Macon, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—The Macon council of The Knights of Columbus have adopted resolutions sympathizing with President A. J. Long, of the chamber of commerce, in his indictment by the grand jury on the charge of violating the prohibition law. The resolutions express absolute confidence in his innocence, and believe that he will ultimately be completely vindicated. There is a general sentiment here favoring Mr. Long, and it is believed that he will be acquitted.

FIRST GRADUATES IN THREE YEARS

Commencement Exercises Held by Immaculate Conception Convent.

For the first time in three years a graduating class has been sent out from the Convent of the Immaculate Conception, three young ladies having received the diplomas of the institution Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The graduates were Misses Emma Mary Corley, Mary Clifford Cronin, and Louie Frances Hames, Miss Corley being the valedictorian, Miss Cronin the salutatorian, and Miss Hames the class poet.

All three papers were of high merit, and won much approbation from the hundred or more friends who assembled by invitation at the convent to witness the commencement exercises.

Three large rooms were thrown into one on the lower floor and the spacious hall thus formed was beautifully decorated in white and green, graceful palms and ferns and festoons of white lending a festive air to the usually quiet parlors.

The address to the graduates was made by Rev. R. F. Kennedy, pastor of the church of the Immaculate Conception, and in commenting on the papers read he based an interesting talk on the accomplishments of the young ladies. Vocal and instrumental music and recitations added to the attractiveness of the program.

DIPLOMAS ARE GIVEN TO HOSPITAL NURSES

Before a large audience twelve young ladies received their diplomas and class pins as graduate nurses from Lewis. On the rostrum were seated yesterday afternoon after completing their four years' course.

The exercises were held in the hospital auditorium, which had been artistically decorated with palms and masses of cut flowers by George W. Lewis. On the rostrum weer seated the graduating class, the speakers, the trustees, the medical board, the superintendent of the hospital and the superintendent of nurses. The invocation was offered by Dr. W. L. Lingle, of the First Presbyterian church.

Hon. Frank O. Foster departed from the usual lines of a commencement address in his talk to the nurses, and besides paying many high tributes to the work of the nurses, their faithfulness during the four years of probation and their power for good, interspersed his remarks with both wise and witty sayings.

In delivering the diplomas President Martin said: "I think it is a great pity that the citizens of Atlanta are generally so ignorant concerning the work being done here for the good of the city and of humanity. I take the large audience here this afternoon as a good omen for the future."

Hon. Jesse M. Wood presented the nurses with their class pins, bearing the emblem of the profession, which are highly prized throughout life.

The exercises were closed with the benediction by Dr. W. L. Lingle, of the First Presbyterian church, and the guests filed out during music by Bearden's orchestra.

PIONEER WOMAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Richard Peters Succumbs to Illness of Several Weeks.

Surrounded by Members of Her Family, Well-Beloved Woman Meets Her End--Funeral Services on Friday Afternoon at All Saints' Church.

Mrs. Richard Peters, one of Atlanta's best known, most widely connected and most lovable women—one whose whole life had been a benediction to those around her—passed away at her residence, 652 Peachtree street, at 5:20 o'clock Thursday morning after an illness of several weeks. At the time of her death she was surrounded by her children, Richard Peters, of Philadelphia; Ralph Peters, of Garden City, L. I.; Edward S. Peters, of Atlanta; Mrs. Nellie Peters Black and Mrs. H. M. Atkinson, both of this city.

In addition to her children, Mrs. Peters is survived by one brother, Joseph Thompson, and one sister, Mrs. Thomas M. Clarke.

The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock at All Saints', of which church Mrs. Peters of late years was a devoted member. The vestrymen of the church will act as pallbearers. They are W. D. Ellis, Jr., H. L. Cobbs, Milton Dargan, William E. Chapin, George W. Wilkins, C. G. Lambert, John R. Dillon, J. M. B. Hoxsey, R. R. Wood and William M. Hunt. Rev. W. W. Memminger will conduct the services, assisted by Bishop C. K. Nelson and Rev. C. T. Pise, of the cathedral. Music will be rendered by the vested choir of All Saints' church.

Sketch of Her Life.

Mrs. Richard Peters was in every respect a remarkable woman—one of whom not only her relatives and many friends, but the city of Atlanta had occasion to be proud. As her husband was one of the makers of history in Atlanta and Georgia, so was she in her feminine sphere a molder of the social, philanthropic and the religious life of the community. Had she lived until December 31, 1911, she would have been 81 years of age.

Mrs. Peters' maiden name was Mary Jane Thompson. She was the eldest daughter of Dr. Joseph Thompson, one of Atlanta's most distinguished citizens, and was born in Decatur, Ga., December 31, 1830. When she was 14 years of age, her father moved to Atlanta, and for a long time was owner and manager of the old Atlanta hotel, which stood on the site of the present Kimball house, and was noted throughout the south and west for its splendid hospitality.

It was here that she met her future husband, Richard Peters, who was at that time a rapidly rising young railroad man, whose business frequently took him to this city, then the straggling town of Terminus. From that day on she lived in Atlanta, and has always taken a foremost interest in everything looking to the development of her home town.

Life of Usefulness.

Although advanced in years when the hand of death touched her and beckoned her to the great beyond, she retained a vigorous interest in all things looking to the good of Atlanta, and was one of the foremost church workers in the city.

Her church work will be a monument to her for years to come. Her first notable church work was in aiding the erection of the First Presbyterian church in this city. Later she joined the Episcopal church, of which her husband was a member, and took an important part in securing funds for building the first and second St. Philips' church. For many years she was one of the staunchest members of St. Philips', and her interest in its affairs amounted to a passion. It was only of recent years that she changed her membership to All Saints' church, which is situated much nearer the Peters home, on Peachtree street.

Mrs. Peters' married life was an ideally happy one. In all her husband's manifold business affairs she took the keenest interest, and was of the greatest help to him.

On the occasion of her eightieth birthday, Mrs. Peters, surrounded by her children and grandchildren, recounted interestingly some anecdotes of her life and the early days in Atlanta. She said:

Life in Decatur.

"I lived in Decatur fourteen years," she said. "No community could boast of better morals and a more Christian people; no one was tolerated whose character was doubtful. The churches were common, unceiled, weatherboarded buildings; no fires, no pews, no carpets, yet everybody went to church regularly without even the attractions of organs and choirs.

"One man called a precentor stood up in front of the pulpit facing the congregation and would read two lines of the hymn at a time and raise the tune and everybody joining in with heartiness; it was not considered then that a few people should be selected to sing all the praises to God. My father filled this position from my earliest recollection, for he was one of the original founders of the Presbyterian church in Decatur, and he was also, with my mother and myself, three of the original fifteen who organized the first Presbyterian church in Atlanta.

"On the 22d day of August, 1885, his funeral was the first service held in the Central Presbyterian church, for which he had labored as one of the first members from the time it branched off from the mother church on Marietta street."

"When I was a child, 10 years of age, my father took me to Milledgeville to an inaugural ball. This was in the year 1840. We went by stage coach. The roads were dreadful and the stage turned over and I lost my slipper in the mud by the roadside, and with one shoe on I landed in Milledgeville at a store, where a new hat, to replace the one I had dropped out of the window, and new slippers were bought.

"Shortly after this, a great commotion was created in our town. Two large wagons drawn by many mules, passed through the streets, bringing the first locomotive that was to be used on the state road.

"A little later on, the civil engineers came to see about locating the Georgia railroad, but the citizens would not allow it to come into town. They said it would ruin the place. Dr. Thompson was asked to procure the right-of-way outside of the town and on to the terminus of the state road, which he did, where it was decided a town should be located for the railroads. When the young city of Atlanta grew to such proportions they soon realized that Decatur had made a great mistake in not inviting the railroad officers to occupy their town.

The First Train.

"When the first train was to go from the terminus, now Atlanta, to Marietta, every one who could get a vehicle, for miles in and around Decatur, came up to take the train, and a jolly time they had. A large ball was given by Mr. Benson Roberts, of Marietta, at his hotel, and the dancing was kept up all night the crowd returning home next day.

"Subsequently the road was completed from Augusta to Decatur. The day the first train was expected over the Georgia road, the whole town walked a mile to get to the track to watch and wait for its arrival. There the people stood or stooped down and laid their ears on the track to hear the first sound of the engine.

"At the earnest solicitation of the president and superintendent, Dr. Thompson came to Marthasville, which Atlanta was called then, to make a home for the railroad people. It was interesting to watch every step of progress in the new city, from going to hear Dr. Alexander Means preach in Wheat's warehouse, where people sat on pine slabs for benches with dirt for the floor (pigs sleeping under this shelter at night), and then when the first Sunday school was started in the school building erected where Bratton's drug store is now, until finally modern churches were built.

Early Society.

"Society in those early days was characterized by simplicity and friendliness and correctness of deportment.

"Weddings were celebrated at home and attendants were called waiters. Small girls were selected as candleholders to light up the wedding party, there being no gas and electricity or kerosene in those days, only tallow dips, which each house mother made herself.

"The first funeral held in Marthasville was that of a Mrs. Bell; she was carried on a wagon out Peachtree road to a little graveyard near what is now Baker and Peachtree streets. Everyone walked and friendly hands performed all the last offices for her.

"As I look around me now in the crowded city, which I have watched grow to its present size with interest and delight, it is sad to feel I am almost alone of the original number who came here in 1845. I cannot close these memories of the past without speaking of our first Episcopal service which was held in the parlor of Mr. Samuel E. Jones, afterward my home. Bishop Elliott had the service and preached the sermon, the text being, 'And they all with one consent began to make excuse,' which seemed highly appropriate to a number of young men who had declined my invitation to accompany me to church.

"My husband being a member of this church, I united with it over fifty years ago, and have found a solace and comfort which sustains me in these years, 'when the golden sun is setting and life's horizon seems closing about me.'"

CALLED BY DEATH

MRS. RICHARD PETERS.
Pioneer, whose death occurred early Thursday morning.

CITY NEWS

McCallister-Gossett.—Mrs. M. E. McCallister, of 307 Pullman street, and Mr. O. C. Gossett, of College Park, were married yesterday afternoon by Judge E. H. Orr.

Ike Martin in Atlanta.—Ike Martin, now of New York, but for years a resident of Savannah, and at that time one of the best-known commercial travelers in the south, is in the city for a few days, the guest of his old friend, T. F. Pendergrast, of 294 Courtland street.

Camp Walker Meets.—Camp W. H. T. Walker, No. 925, U. C. V., will hold its first regular meeting since its return home from the reunion at Little Rock, Ark., on next Monday night at the court house. All the members are urged to come out, as business of importance will be transacted.

B. Y. P. U. Meeting.—Another interesting meeting of the Baptist Young People's Union will be held at the College Park Baptist church next Sunday evening, June 11, at 7 o'clock. The vice president, John A. Hale, will conduct the service with the aid of others. The subject for this occasion will be "The Letters of Peter and James." A cordial invitation is extended to all those who are interested in B. Y. P. U. work.

Given Pen Sentence.—W. A. Graves, alias M. M. Key, the negro claiming to be divine, who was arrested last fall charged with using the United States mails to defraud members of his own race, telling his victims that he could hold communication with the dead and avert trouble, was arraigned in the federal court yesterday. Eighteen negro women who had been victimized by Graves were present to testify. The defendant entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to two years and six months in the federal prison.

Afternoon Services.—On account of the intense heat, and in response to numerous requests, Rev. E. Dean Ellenwood, pastor of the Universalist church on East Harris street, announces that the series of "Why I Am What I Am" addresses which have been so successfully in progress at this church for the past seven weeks, have been discontinued for the present, and will begin again on the first Sunday in October. Since beginning the series, Mr. Ellenwood has received applications for a hearing from representatives of several denominations which were unavoidably omitted from the program as originally announced, on account of lack of time, and he announces that each of these will be given a hearing in turn after the opening of the series again in the fall.

Church Concert.—The third concert given under the auspices of the choir of Wallace Presbyterian church will be held at the church, corner Walker and Stonewall streets, on Thursday evening, June 15, at 8 o'clock. A splendid program, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and readings, has been arranged. The ladies' orchestra, which was so much enjoyed in the former concerts, will again be a special feature. There will be solos by four prominent soloists (mixed), and several select chorus numbers, under the direction of the chorister, James L. Brush. The chorus has been in training for several months, and a strictly high-grade program will be rendered. Complete program will be announced later. An admission charge of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children will be made.

For Health Officers.—There will be a competitive examination of applicants for assistant health officers, recently created by the city council, to take the place of city physicians and to be put into effect July 1, at the Grady hospital next Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock. Although there are only two positions offered, there are many applicants for the examination.

Greenfield Will Speak.—Joseph C. Greenfield, thirty-third degree Scottish Rite Mason, of New York, will deliver an address in the Masonic Temple next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All master Masons of Atlanta and Fulton county are invited. Masons from all lodges in the fifth Masonic district have been invited, and the gathering will undoubtedly be one of the largest ever gathered in the temple to hear an address.

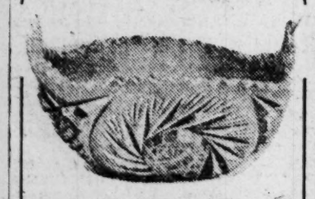

Negroes Aid Gloer's Trip.—Appreciating the valuable work rendered their race by Probation Officer Gloer, a large number of Atlanta negroes have contributed funds towards sending Officer Gloer to the national convention in Boston. Those offering money for the trip are members of these colored churches: Friendship, Baptist, Big Bethel Methodist, Wheat Street Baptist and the Congregational church. The cost of Mr. Gloer's trip will be over $150, but a large amount has already been contributed.

Police Picnic a Success.—Two solid train loads of holiday-makers enjoyed yesterday the largest picnic in the history of the Atlanta Police Relief Association, which was held at Warm Springs. They left the city in two divisions, at 7 o'clock, and the return was made about 9 o'clock.

Baskets were empty and feet were tired when the party got back to the city, but the pleasure and satisfaction of the trip more than made up for this. Everything went off smoothly, and there was not a single incident or accident to mar the day.

Thrown Out of Surrey.—The surrey of John Manson, of Confederate avenue, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Manson, was struck by the East Hunter car on Woodward avenue, near Cherokee avenue, last night at 8:45 o'clock, throwing Mrs. Manson out and damaging the vehicle. Mrs. Manson was very slightly hurt. She was able to sit on the curb awaiting the ambulance, and was taken to her home in a passing automobile before it arrived. Mr. Manson was not hurt at all.

Special Ordination Services.—Special ordination services for the ordination of A. Z. Pinnell as pastor and J. G. Pittman as deacon have been arranged by the Agoga Baptist church. The program has been announced as: Presentation of pastor and deacon to the Presbytery, ordination services, ordination song, presentation of Bible, J. A. Crumley; charge of the pastor, T. E. McCutcheon; charge of the deacon, H. D. White; response by the pastor, A. Z. Pinnell; outlook, J. F. Purser, closing song and benediction.

M'KEON SCHOOL PRESENTED SPLENDID CLOSING PROGRAM

A crowded hall greeted the students of the McKeon School last night when they appeared in their first annual closing, a splendid literary program being presented.

The most striking feature of the program was the delivery of an essay on the Mexican situation by W. R. Bedell. Master Bedell reflects high credit on Professor McGlone, who prepared the boys. Another exceptionally good feature was a rendition of a selection from one of Henry W. Grady's most celebrated speeches. This was delivered by his grandson, Henry W. Grady, third.

An unusual treat was given when a class of sixteen boys recited in perfect unison the famous "Inchcape Rock." The salutatory address was given in an able manner by Pink Cherry, Jr., and a splendid essay on world peace was delivered by Jerome Herman.

The awarding of ten gold medals and three prizes occupied the principal part of the program. The medals were awarded as follows: Rosenthal medal in deportment to John Bell, Gavin, medal in elocution to William R. Bedell, Lester medal in mathematics to H. W. Grady, third, Friendship medal in latin to William R. Bedell, Miller medal in arithmetic to Alex C. King, Jr., Grady medal in U. S. History to H. W. Grady, third, Rosenthal medal in composition to Frank Hollbrook, McKeon medal in homework to Steve Grady, school medal in spelling to Ludwig Sciple, school medal in English history to Donald Humphrey, Grady prize in United States history to William R. Bedell, school prize in algebra to A. R. Colcord, school prize in English history to John S. Cohen, Jr.

REPORTED SCOTT WILL LOSE PLACE

Rumor Says Governor Smith Will Name New Adjutant General.

According to reports which appear to come from authentic sources, Adjutant General A. J. Scott, of the national guard of Georgia, will not be reappointed to that position by Governor-elect Hoke Smith when he assumes the duties of governor this summer.

When asked concerning this appointment Thursday night Governor Smith stated that he had no statement to make regarding it.

However, persistent rumors have been abroad of late that the governor-elect has definitely decided not to reappoint General Scott; in fact, the rumors go so far as to say that he has already offered the position to another man and that the offer has been accepted. Who this man is rumor does not say, but it is stated that he is a man not now connected with the military affairs of the state.

Until quite recently it has been the general opinion among national guard officers that General Scott would be reappointed to the position of adjutant general. He has been indorsed by practically every military officer in Georgia.

Regarding the indorsement of General Scott for reappointment a prominent national guard officer had the following to say:

"To General Scott has been due in large part the present high standard of efficiency which prevails in the national guard of the state. He has labored faithfully and unceasingly in the interest of the military and no man could have done more than the limited resources and limited opportunities he has had to develop the national guard into a presentable military machine.

"General Scott has been indorsed by practically every military man in the state, all of whom realize his ability and the inestimable service he has rendered the state during his tenure of office.

"This indorsement for reappointment is now being prepared and it was the intention to present it to Governor-elect Smith at an early date. However, if it appears certain that he does not intend to make the appointment it may not be presented."

WITH CINDER COLONY

General managers of the southern and southeastern roads held their regular monthly meeting at the office of President Charles A. Wickersham, of the West Point, yesterday. Only routine business was taken up.

W. H. Stanley, of Norfolk, general superintendent of transportation for the Seaboard, was in the city on business yesterday.

J. W. Maxwell, T. P. and F. A. of the Burlington route, with headquarters in Birmingham, is on a short business trip here.

H. E. Osborne, T. P. A., of the Frisco, with headquarters here, left last night for North Carolina, to take charge of a party bound for Colorado.

J. L. Meek, A. G. P. A., Southern, here, has just returned from a trip to New Orleans, where he went to look over the situation regarding travel from the Crescent City to the mountain and seashore resorts over his road. Practically all the roads out of New Orleans are doing a record summer resort business, according to Mr. Meek.

The statement that the Georgia T. P. A.'s would go to Philadelphia by way of the Southern tomorrow, is incorrect. The Seaboard has been chosen as the official route for the travelers, who will go to Norfolk by rail, taking steamer from there to the Quaker City.

Henry H. Hunt, who has taken the place of D. P. A. of the Rock Island here, left vacant by the promotion of Fay Thompson, says Atlanta has grown so much since he was here three years ago he is having no little trouble getting his bearings. Atlanta, to his way of thinking, is unquestionably the best city in Dixie.

W. A. Muse, T. P. A. for the Seaboard, with headquarters here, returned to the city after a two weeks' absence Wednesday, only to be sent out again early yesterday morning.

C. H. Hicks, vice president and general manager of the Seaboard, pased through the city en route to his home in Portsmouth, Wednesday.

The bi-monthly meeting of the conference committee of the Southeastern Passenger Association meets in Norfolk on June 23. Atlanta is expected to send a full delegation of passenger men.

On June 12, the Southern will establish a new Pullman line between Savannah and Asheville on the "Land of the Sky Special." This has been found necessary on account of the large traffic between the seacoast and the mountain resorts.

THREE HANGINGS IN STATE TODAY

Petitions for Respites Are Turned Down by Governor Brown.

Efforts were made yesterday to secure respites for three convicted murderers who are to expiate their crime on the gallows today. But each application was turned down by Governor Brown, and there will be three hangings in Georgia today.

John Withrow, the youthful Fannin county murderer, who killed his young wife, will be hanged in Blue Ridge this morning. Withrow will be remembered as one of the prisoners who effected an unsuccessful escape from the Tower in this city some several months ago.

Ed Jones, the Baker county negro, who killed another of his race some time ago, applied for a respite through his attorneys Thursday, but was turned down. He will be hanged in Baker county today.

A Lincoln county negro murderer will also be hanged in that county today after having his petition for respite rejected by the governor.

Albany, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—Next Thursday will be a red letter day in Albany for several reasons. In the first place, William J. Bryan will be here to deliver the first address he has ever made in the southwestern part of the state, and he will be greeted by a crowd which is expected to tax the capacity of the big Pine street auditorium.

The visiting commissioners are to be royally entertained while here. All the railroads entering Albany have agreed to give reduced rates on the 15th.

working man, "this earning your bread by the sweat of your brow does not appeal to me. I never was any too crazy about work, but when a fellow has been on a house party having the time of his life, this daily labor stuff gets his goat. Some house party, too. Best looking girls you ever saw, fine auto rides, classy baseball on the side, swell eats, and—well, what's the use to add it up? Plenty of spring water to drink, but you didn't have to drink it; lots of 'barber shop' harmony, and piano and clarinet doings over and over again.

"But I started out to tell you about my friend, Tom. There's the boy that has 'em going, whether he is coughing rag time or handling the indicator. Honest, he has half the black face men and vaudeville top-liners tied to a pumpkin. If he ever comes to Atlanta I know two or three local wits who'll have to stay in bed. Fine figure he has, too, especially when traveling south. If you don't believe it, take a look."

SOCIETY

ENGLISH-KISER WEDDING WAS BRILLIANT OCCASION

The marriage of Miss Jennie English and Mr. Gordon Kiser took place last evening at the First Presbyterian church and was a brilliant and beautiful occasion witnessed by a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Lingle, assisted by Dr. Daniel, of the First Baptist church. Mr. John O'Donelly presided at the organ and the wedding march from Lohengrin was played as the bridal party entered the church.

The bride was attended by her two sisters, Mrs. James D. Robinson and Mrs. Harry English, Miss Cobbie Vaughn, the groom's niece, and Miss Constance Knowles.

Mr. Kiser was attended by his cousins, Mr. William H. Kiser, who was best man, and Mr. Albert Howell. Mr. Charles I. Ryan and Mr. Joseph Brown Connally were groomsmen. The ushers were Mr. James D. Robinson, Colonel James W. English, Mr. Clark Howell, Colonel Robert J. Lowry, Mr. John S. Cohen, Dr. W. S. Elkin, Mr. Preston Arkwright, Mr. Sanders Daniel, Mr. John W. Grant, Mr. Ulric Atkinson.

The ushers came down the side aisles in couples; Miss Knowles and Miss Vaughn came singly. Following were the groomsmen, Mr. Ryan and Mr. Connally. The matrons of honor, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. English, came singly. The attendants formed a half circle as the bride, escorted by her father, reached the altar, where she was met by the groom, when the impressive ceremony was performed. Afterwards there was a reception at the home of the bride's father, Captain James W. English, where several hundred guests were brilliantly entertained.

Church Decorations.

The decorations at the church were of palms and bay trees. American smilax and asparagus fern with a luxury of Easter lilies and white peonies, valley lilies and white tulle.

The altar was concealed by banks of living green, and high above the organ loft were the leaves of the palm trees. In the center of this mass of green and above the altar was a basket filled with Easter lilies and peonies with showers of tulle and asparagus fern falling from it. On each side of the altar banks were tall vases filled with the flowers, while the circular end of the church extending from the altar on each side was solid in the green of tropical foliage against which showed garlands of tulle and lilies hung between standards on the tops of which were torchers of white flowers showered with tulle. The pews in sections were marked by these standards bearing torchers of white flowers, and every detail of the decorative scheme was finished and artistic.

The Reception.

A gracious hospitality marked the reception, the bride and groom receiving in the drawing room surrounded by members of their family and the attendants. An elegant supper was served in the course of the evening and an orchestra furnished music from the upstairs balcony. The guests were served in all the apartments on the lower floor, on the broad porch and in the front garden inclosed for the occasion with canvas hung with smilax and woodland vine.

The Bride and Her Attendants.

The bride's gown was one distinctive in fashion and elegance. The material was a soft callot satin in ivory white, and the style, empire, had a skirt drapery introduced, this falling in a point to one side and edged with lace of rare quality combining the sheer meshes of guipure and Limerick. Adjusting the drapery to one side was a spray of orange blossoms. The corsage was almost entirely of the lace and folds of tulle, the skirt fitting high on the corsage in a point. The sleeves were short, of tulle and lace, and her veil was in the guipure and Limerick lace, in the pattern being woven tiny doves and clusters of orange blossoms. The veil was worn from the face and fell in long, graceful folds outlining the court train of callot satin.

Her jewels included the gift of the groom—a necklace of superb diamonds set in platinum, from which hung a pendant of the same stones set in lily design. Her flowers were white orchids fringed with valley lilies. The matrons of honor and bridesmaids wore pink chiffon gowns over satin trimmed in clusters of French roses and carried round bouquets of pink ...ds fringed with valley lilies.

Miss Alexander, the bride's aunt, was becomingly gowned in black chiffon cloth, and Mrs. Vaughn, the groom's sister, was becomingly gowned in white.

Decorative Scheme.

Within and without the house an elaborate decorative scheme was expressed which introduced palms and tropical plants of all kinds, and the mirror basket as the feature of the decoration. These mirror baskets seen in the pictures of the old French salons hung from the mirrors and were filled with flowers, producing charming effect.

In the hallway, where white and green was the color scheme, white roses filled the basket hung from the mirror and showered with asparagus fern. Palms were at the base of the stairway and high above them was a basket of Easter lilies and bride roses. In the library the mirror over the cabinet mantel was a basket, the blooms of pink peonies reflected in the mirror. The same flowers were on the book cabinets showing through masses of fern. In the drawing room long-stemmed American Beauty roses filled pedestal baskets on each side of the long mirror. This veiled in asparagus fern had hung from the top a mirror basket filled with the American Beauties, which with those in the baskets on each side formed a canopy of roses under which the bride and groom stood to receive congratulations.

Vases of the roses were elsewhere in the room and presented vivid contrast in color to the decorations in the dining room adjoining, where the flowers used were orchids and valley lilies.

On a circular table, from which bonbons were served, was a lace cover, and in the center was a formal fountain expressed in flowers. The closely-set valley lilies represented the base of the fountain with a border of orchids and lilies. Three tiers of the fountain arose one above the other, the lilies so arranged with tulle as to suggest the idea of the soft spray of the fountain. White silk candle shades under silver tipped the silver candelabra, and the bonbons in white and green filled silver bonbon dishes and epergnes.

The old-fashioned mirror had veils of asparagus fern drawn back to show a mirror basket filled with Easter lilies and orchids and valley lilies.

The buffet was banked with fern and in the center was the bride's cake, on the top a basket in spun candy filled with orange blossoms and lilies. The cake contained the ring, the thimble and the dime drawn for by the attendants.

A Tropical Garden.

On the front porch the wall was covered with the bamboo vine, sparkling in electric lights under rose-colored shades, this vine of bamboo and lights finding its way out in the garden, on the trees, in the foliage, and winding through the columns of the little white pergolas, completing a beautiful garden effect. The latticed roofs of the pergolas were hung with smilax and flowers, and under them the guests were served to the delicious supper. There was music from the balcony above, and an atmosphere of freshness and coolness suggested in the ripple of the water in the fountain set in a circle of fern and growing flowers and reflecting rose-shaded lights. Chairs and tables admitted of many of the guests assembled here, as well as inside, where the house was embowered in flowers.

The many and elegant presents were displayed in two apartments upstairs.

Mr. Kiser and his bride left on the evening train for a visit east.

Their prominence and popularity rendered the occasion of their marriage of broad social interest. The bride, as Miss Jennie English, has not only been one of the most prominent young women in southern society, but she has been a recognized leader in social life, not only that pertaining to brilliancy and pleasure, but that uniting the broader interests which have carried her into the most beautiful philanthropic work, and public work associated with the highest service.

She is the second daughter of Captain J. W. English, one of Atlanta's most distinguished citizens, and is a sister of Mrs. James D. Robinson; of Messrs. James, Harry and Edward English. Mr. Kiser is one of Atlanta's most prominent younger citizens, and a man of brilliant business achievement. He is a member of the firm of the M. C. Kiser Company, and has a large circle of friends in business and social life. He is a member of all Atlanta social clubs.

DAILY FASHION HINTS

A LOVELY "MERMAID" FROCK DESIGNED IN PARIS.

Sea green chiffon embroidered with pearls and mounted over flesh-pink chiffon is the clever arrangement which has won for this beautful evening gown the nickname of "Die Lorelei" in Germany, the costume having been made in Paris for a young matron high in German court circles. The flesh-pink chiffon veils a satin foundation dress of the same shade and the outer layer of sea green chiffon is so heavily embroidered with pearls that it clings about the figure, suggesting the sinuous contour of a mermaid. Over shoulders and arms is a drapery of white lace over sea-green and flesh-pink chiffons.

Cassin-Cromer.

The marriage of Mrs. Minnie Hillyer Cassin and Dr. J. D. Cromer was an event of interest last night, taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Judge and Mrs. George Hillyer, on West Peachtree street.

The ceremony, at 8 o'clock, was witnessed by an intimate company of friends and relatives, and a reception followed, at which a delightful hospitality was expressed.

Dr. John E. White, of the Second Baptist church, officiated, and the only attendants were little Miss Ellen Newell, ribbon bearer, and Dr. J. Clarence Johnson, best man.

The bride was becomingly gowned in rose-colored chiffon cloth, embroidered in beads and trimmed with maltese lace. Her bouquet was of orchids, showered with lilies of the valley.

The marriage was solemnized in the drawing room, the bridal party grouped before a pyramid of palms, and the house was decorated throughout with smilax, foliage plants and sweetpeas.

A buffet supper was served, and the table in the dining room was artistic in pink and silver. The centerpiece was a plateau of pink sweetpeas; the silver candlesticks had pink shades, and silver dishes were filled with confections in pink.

Appropriate music was provided by an orchestra.

Mrs. ...llyer, assisted in receiving by her daughters, wore an elegant toilette in black lace over white satin. Mrs. Bernard Wolff wore pink mulle, embroidery and lace. Mrs. Alfred Newell wore blue chiffon and lace. Mrs. William Hurd Hillyer wore apricot satin and gold lace. Miss Emily Cassin wore white embroidered mulle and lace. Miss Ellen Wolff wore a pink lingerie dress. Miss Maggie Foote, serving punch, wore white.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman, of Spartanburg, S. C.; Miss Carrie Dawkins, of Spartanburg; Miss Carrie Rhodes, of Rome; Mrs. Thomas Robinson, of Anniston, Ala.

Dr. and Mrs. Cromer went north by way of Savannah, and returning, will be at home with Judge and Mrs. Hillyer.

The wedding, while it was a quiet one, centered a wide and cordial social interest. In Mrs. Cromer, who is one of the three lovely daughters of Judge and Mrs. Hillyer, who are pioneer and prominent citizens, are united a pronounced beauty, with strong character and a fine womanliness, which enhance her charm, while Dr. Cromer, who came here from South Carolina, is recognized as one of Atlanta's able physicians, and he is admired by his profession and many friends.

When You Want A Quick Shampoo

(From New York World.)

"The woman who delights in keeping herself well-groomed encounters trouble with her hair in summer. The dust is everywhere and yet it is inadvisable to resort to soap and water frequently enough to keep the head clean. Too much wetting makes the hair brittle, coarse and lifeless.

"In view of these facts the wise woman depends upon dry shampooing to keep her scalp clean and her hair in healthy condition, so as to promote its growth. You can make an excellent dry shampoo by simply mixing four ounces of therox with four ounces of orris root.

"Keep the mixture in a sifter-can can and whenever you want a quick shampoo, or before dressing your hair for the evening, sprinkle a tablespoonful of this mixture upon the head; then brush the powder all out of the hair.

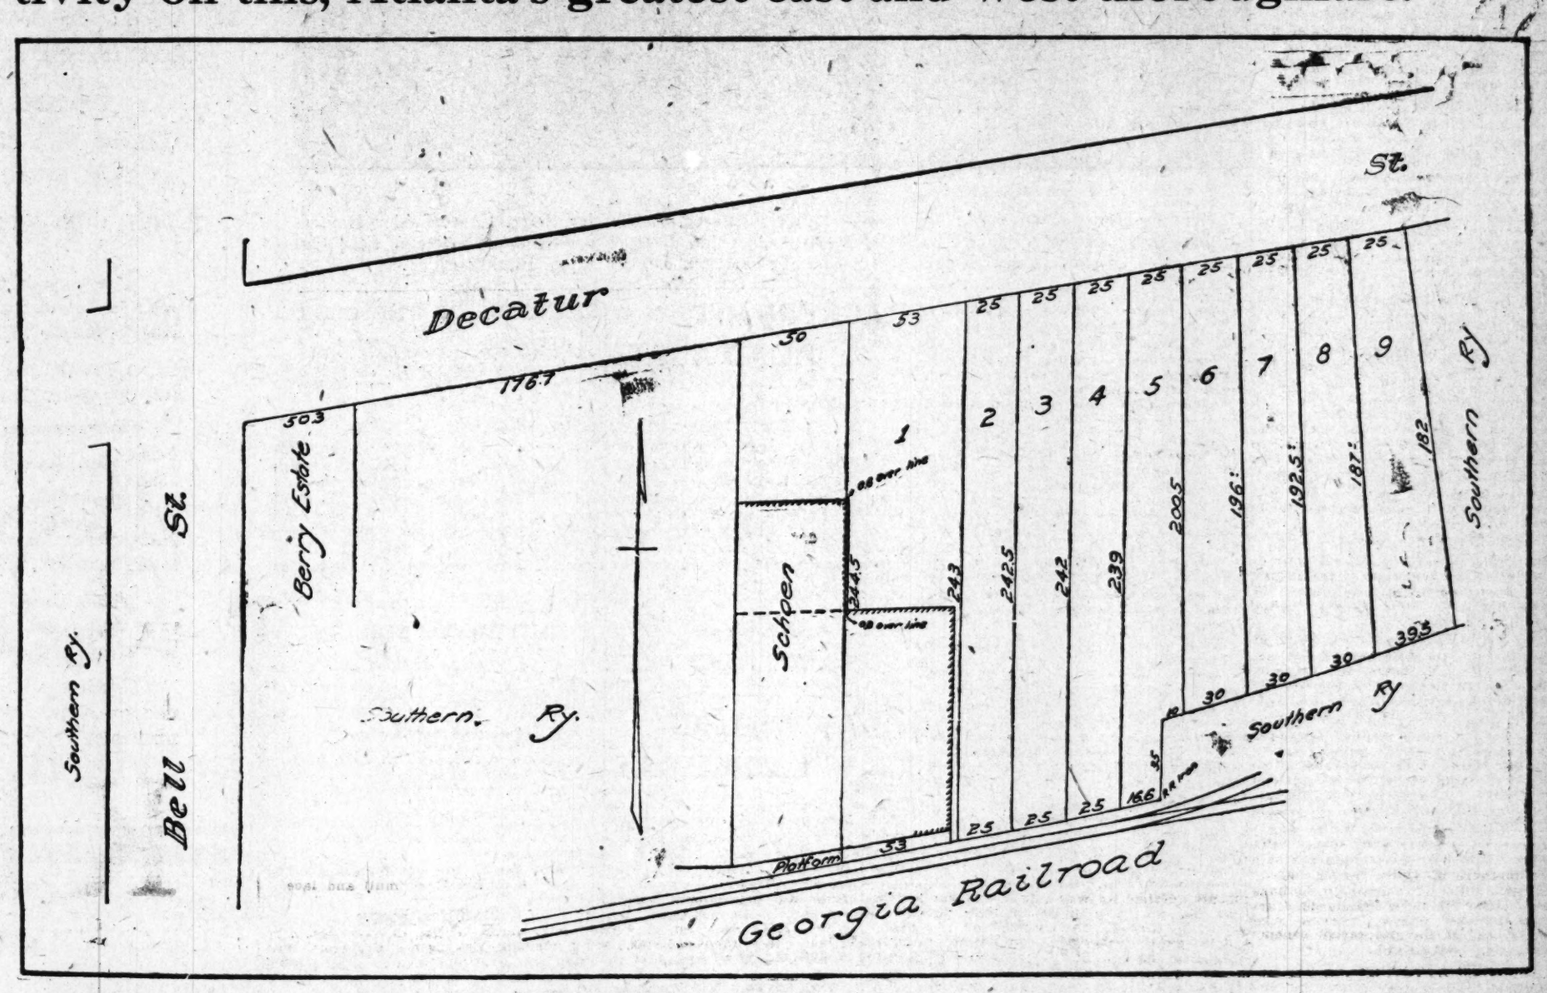

"Five or ten minutes' brushing will leave the hair light, bright and fluffy, for therox takes out all dirt and dust. This treatment keeps the hair fine in texture and rich in color, and helps it to repel dampness in the evening air."

There is no better chance for safe, profitable investment than is offered by busy Decatur Street today. It means sharing in all of the rapid advances that have just begun with the recent activity on this, Atlanta's greatest east and west thoroughfare.

On one of these nine lots to be sold a two-story, brick building warehouse is located.

What's more, they are the men who have made fortunes from Atlanta dirt in the past, and now they realize that Decatur street has but just begun upon a new era of development that will make property along this thoroughfare among the most valuable in all Atlanta.

NEAR BEER DEALERS TO SUE PROHIS WHO CLOSED SHOPS

Athens, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—The near beer saloons in Athens were last night decided not to be "blind tigers," in the legal acceptance of the term in the hearing of the cases of a score of citizens against two wholesalers and two retailers of near beer in which attempt was made to abate the places as nuisances.

Judge Brand granted a temporary order authorizing the seizing of the saloons and goods of the defendants, the arrest of the persons and the locking of the goods.

Judge Meadow decided that a case had not been made out against the dealers—ordering that the restraining order be dissolved, the injunction prayed for be refused, the arrests cancelled and the bonds also be cancelled, the goods relieved from seizure and the costs charged to the plaintiffs.

The case, it is said, will be carried to the court of appeals.

There is also strong rumor of lawsuits for damages that may be filed by the dealers whose businesses were suspended for several days and who claim that their stocks of goods were damaged and their trade injured.

YOUNG BATTEY MISSING FROM OFFICE IN ROME

Rome, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—Chadwick Battey, son of Dr. Henry Battey, of this city, one of Rome's most highly connected young men, is missing from the city waterworks office, where he held an important clerkship and where an apparent shortage of $2,000 exists. Young Battey left the city last night and is said to have gone to Atlanta.

Battey is married and is widely connected throughout the state. No one knows where he went from Atlanta. No warrant for his arrest has been issued. It is said that his relatives will straighten up Battey's books if there is anything wrong.

The affair, which only came to light this afternoon, has created a tremendous sensation in Rome.

TRUE WORDS FROM A STREET CAR MAN

Again the Quaker Herb Extract Displays its Wonderful Curative Powers.

True words from Mr. H. A. Hoffman, who is an inspector for Ga. Ry. & Electric Co., of this city. He has been in the employment of this company for about 11 years; for the past two years he, like most all other railroad men, or street car men, became afflicted with kidney trouble, constipation and stomach trouble. He has been in a bad condition for the past year. His stomach would bloat, belching, it seemed, almost everything he would eat or drink would cause him distress of the stomach. The food would ferment, gases would form, his kidneys caused him much annoyance, especially at night. He would have to get up two to four times; he got so he had a tired, languid feeling. He never was too sick to stop work, but "just sick enough to feel bad and I have a barrel of so-called stomach medicine but I never found anything that even gave me relief until about three weeks ago. I called on Gray, the Quaker Health Teacher, at Coursey & Munn's drug store, 29 Marietta street, and procured a treatment of the Quaker Herb Extract, and after taking it one day I commenced to feel better, and today I feel like a new man; my trouble is gone. My wife was in very much the same condition I was. Her head ached a good deal, tired, weak, all run down, poor appetite, although her ambition kept her up and going, she had no strength. She, too, has taken the Quaker Herb Extract, and today is feeling fine and joins in telling her friends and neighbors what a grand medicine the Quaker Extract is, for it has done herself and husband more good than all the medicine we have taken in two years." Gray says this is the reports he will have from thousands of Atlanta's best citizens, for Quaker Herb Extract and Oil of Balm do cure where all others fail. If you suffer with rheumatism, catarrh, no matter if it be in the head, the stomach, kidneys or bladder, it's a blood germ disease and can only be cured by a systematic treatment. Seven cases out of ten of indigestion is catarrh of the stomach. How are you going to get a cure if you don't remove the cause? Quaker Extract, removes the cause. Call today, have a talk with Gray, it costs you nothing. If you can't call order by mail and on receipt of price they will be sent you by express, all charges paid on $3.00 orders or over. Quaker Herb Extract $1, or three for $2.50, and six for $5.00. Oil of Balm, 25c; cough syrup, 25c; All-Healing Salve, 25c; White Wonder soap for skin and scalp, three for 25c. Gray, at Coursey & Munn's, 29 Marietta street, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily.

WE SECURE A SHORTSTOP

Edited by Dick Jemison

IN 11TH ROUND CRACKERS WIN

They Make It Two Straights. Score 6 to 5.

Brilliant Fielding Marked Work of Both Sides---Errors Figured Largely in the Run-Getting. Foxen and Allen Worked Like Trojans.

By Dopum.

It took us eleven rounds to do it, but we did, and that's the main thing.

The Crackers triumphed over the Gulls for the second time of the series, this time in a hectic extra-inning melee, the final count showing 6 to 5. It was one of those heartrending, nerve-racking affairs, with both clubs threatening to score at any time, and with practically every member of both clubs pulling off some sensational pieces of fielding all throughout the game.

Bill Foxen and Frank Allen, southpaws par excellent, were pitted against one another, and the Atlanta sidewheeler had the best of the argument, though he was touched up rather lively in the eighth round. The first round was brought about as the result of errors.

Errors figured very materially in the outcome. Atlanta made four and Mobile three. Two of Atlanta's resulted in runs indirectly, and all three of Mobile's did the same.

Great Fielding.

Sensational fielding marked the work of members of both teams. Harry Swacina contributed a couple of pretty running catches, diving forward to get them, much on the order of the one he executed on Wednesday.

Earl Sykes, Otto Jordan, Al O'Dell and Jules Watson all made some mighty pretty plays during the game. In fact, they made so many that it is hard to pick out just which one eclipsed the other with his work. The way Sykes stretched out for a short throw of Watson's in one inning made him look like he was made of rubber.

Al O'Dell's base running in the fifth inning, when he scored from second base while Watson was being thrown out at first by Allen, was as grand a piece of base running as one wants to see in many a day. It was brilliant.

You have got to hand the plums to that fellow Fred Corbin. This fellow is "there" forty ways across the deck. He is playing a grand game in left field, but it is his backing up that is the marvel of the Atlanta team. Never in the history of an Atlanta club has there been a man whose backing up plays has been so superb.

He came flying in from left field in the eighth inning to back up Wells behind the plate, following Feine's three-bagger to right. He came all the way from left field to do it, and there were five other men closer to the play than he. Fred deserves a bunch of credit for that kind of playing.

How They Scored.

Mobile tallied two in the first round. Smith walked after Wells had dropped his foul fly. Bayless hit to Foxen. Watson dropped the throw and both hands were safe. Rohe hit to Foxen and Smith was forced at third. Swacina dropped a little Texas leaguer in center, the bases being drunk. The "Cast-off Jonah" then worked overtime, Seitz singling and scoring Bayless and Rohe.

Atlanta tallied one in her half of the first. Zimmerman walked and swiped second. Jordan sacrificed him to third. Corbin singled, scoring Heinie.

The Crackers took the lead in the fourth. Watson singled and Britton sacrificed. Sykes bumped a three-sacker to left, scoring Watson. Wells hit to Foxen, and Sykes beat the throw home. Wells wiped second, and when no one covered the bag he went to third. Heinie beat out a hit to short, on which Wells tallied.

With one gone in the fifth, O'Dell hit one through Allen. The southpaw flagged it, then threw too late and wild to first. O'Dell getting a hit and taking second on the wild heave. Watson hit to Allen. O'Dell kept on coming and scored while Jules was being thrown out.

The Gulls tied it up in the eighth. Bayless and Rohe singled. Swacina forced Rohe at second. Bayless on third. Seitz hit a sacrifice fly to center, on which Bayless scored. Feine hit sharply to right, the ball bounding over Britton's head for three bases. Fox then singled to center, scoring Fiene.

Things rocked along until the tenth, when Mobile threatened with a couple of hits, but Sykes, by a pretty throw, killed Seitz at third.

In the eleventh the game was won. The "Cast-off Jonah" was working again and Watson drew a free ticket. Britton singled. Cadman threw bad to second to catch Watson off. Jules started for third. Bayless caught him with a pretty throw, but Rohe dropped the ball. Earl Sykes then came along with a vicious drive down the third base line, which got through Rohe, and the game was won.

Nashville, Tenn., June 8.—By harding hitting, Nashville took the second game of the series from Montgomery today, 5 to 3. The feature of the game was the hitting of Perry, Smith and Graham; the first got three singles and a triple, the second three singles, while Graham pasted a two-sacker which hit a sign in left, netting $50. Graham was put out the game for disputing Byron's decisions, Dobbs taking his place.

CRACKERS HIT ROAD AGAIN

At the conclusion of the present Mobile series the Crackers will hit the road again and will be gone for two weeks, going back over the same territory from whence they came.

A series will be opened in New Orleans on Sunday. Manager Jordan believes that he has chased the jinx which hung over the Crackers when the Pels were here and is going to try to at least break even in the four games.

Birmingham will be visited for the remainder of the week. The following week will be spent in Montgomery and Mobile. Then the Crackers return for three games with Smith's Lookouts.

Fourteen games are scheduled for the road trip. An even break would be highly acceptable. There may be 15 games played, as one of the Birmingham games were postponed.

TODAY WILL BE LADIES' DAY

Today will be ladies' day at Ponce de Leon Park. The fair fans are sure to be out in numbers to witness the contest. Remember, every lady is admitted free. All she has to do is to present herself at the special widow assigned for that purpose and secure a ticket.

SAM FROCK WILL TWIRL TODAY

Sam Frock, the big right-hander from Boston, whose three appearances as a Cracker have not been successful, will make his fourth try today. Sam believes that he will break his losing streak and start a long winning one.

Lawrenceville, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—The Fifth Regiment City League team, after losing three games in the City League, journeyed over to Lawrenceville Thursday to recover their batting eyes, and did it.

Johnson, on third base, got three hits out of five times up. Smith fielded in great style, robbing Lawrenceville of three hits batted to his territory, and he getting three hits out of five times at bat.

MARIST FACULTY LICKS "CHAMPS"

In a hard-fought contest, filled with much ragging, the Marist faculty defeated the "varsity by the score of 15 to 11 yesterday afternoon. Coach Bean was the "hero" of the game, making a fine catch and also a home run, the ball getting lost in the grass. H. Smith, of the regulars, also smashed out a homer, the ball going over the center field fence. The box score:

TRIPLE DEAL BY THE CRACKERS

Charlie Miller Is Sold to the Brooklyn Club

Catcher Menafee Secured Via Waiver Route From Chattanooga---Shortstop Buemiller, From Louisville, Reports on Saturday.

The shortstop bugbear is now at an end. The man has been secured. He is Buemiller, shortstop with the Appleton club in the Wisconsin-Illinois League last season, and for the first part of this season with Louisville in the American Association.

Buemiller comes to Atlanta highly

CHARLIE MILLER.
He was sold Thursday to Brooklyn. The supposition is that he will eventually land with Louisville.

recommended by President Charley Ebbets, of the Brooklyn club, who tipped the local club off to the player. He has been playing with the Saginaw, Mich., club, and comes to Atlanta from that club. He is expected to arrive here in time for the final game with Mobile Saturday.

Buemiller is said to be the flashiest young shortstop that has broken into the game in many a day. He makes his errors, but those who have seen him work say that he gets lots of them that no other player would go after.

Buemiller played in 94 games for Appleton last season and batted .286. He fielded .937, making 33 errors in 621 changes. He swiped 18 bases.

C. Miller Sold.

The surprise of the day was furnished when it was announced that Charlie Miller had been sold to the Brooklyn club. No one had any idea that the big catcher was anything but a fixture.

Although no statement can be obtained to verify it, the deal looks like a straight swap between the Atlanta and Louisville clubs, with Brooklyn through her president, Charley Ebbets acting as the go-between.

Who is to take Miller's place? Naturally you ask that question. Well, Menafee, the catcher who was with Augusta in the Sally League and secured from that club by Chattanooga, has been obtained through waivers. Menafee is expected to arrive in Atlanta this morning, and may catch in today's game.

Menafee is said to be one of the most promising young catchers who has ever donned the wind pad and mitt, and Phil Wells, the Atlanta catcher, speaks of him highly. If he measures up as well as Phil, then we should be satisfied.

The Crackers will have two shortstops by Saturday. Porkorney, the player mentioned as secured in all the local papers Wednesday, has left for Atlanta, and is expected to arrive at the same time that Buemiller does. The latter has the call, but Porkorney will be looked over by the local moguls, before he is turned loose.

"Hein" to Rescue.

A funny incident happened at the park in connection with the Miller deal. President Heisman was delayed downtown, and did not arrive until the game was starting.

Upon reaching the park and seeing Miller with the windpad and mask on, he rushed into the field, tapped Pfenninger on the shoulder and called the game to a halt. He then explained that Miller was not the property of the Atlanta club, and therefore was not eligible to play in the game.

Had the first ball been pitched, the Mobile club could have protested the game, and Atlanta would have been subject to a $500 fine. The local fans did not understand the move on the local president's part, and, therefore, were very much peeved. They howled for the rest of the game.

Lookouts Sore.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 8.—(Special.)—Claiming that Atlanta claimed Catcher Menafee from Chattanooga by spite, President Andrews stated tonight that he would never waive on the youngster if Atlanta asked for waivers, and Menafee is manifestly unripe. Arrangements had been made to place Menafee with the Charleston Sally team with a recall. Catcher Mitchell signed a local contract today.

Savannah, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—At the biggest meeting of the Savannah Automobile club ever held it was decided tonight to run the grand prize race Thanksgiving day.

The Vanderbilt cup race will be run the Tuesday before. This will allow one day to intervene so machines and drivers can have a brief rest and any necessary repairs can be made on the course. The club telegraphed President Taft, asking what day he will designate as Thanksgiving, there being five Thursdays in November.

The club also urges the president to be its guest during the running of the races. If necessary a committee will be sent to Washington to invite Taft.

HIS WIFE NOT DEAD; IT WAS HOUSEKEEPER

Strange Story Is Unfolded by Suit for Divorce Just Filed.

Exactly one month after the reported suicide of his wife, Emil Schneegas, of the National Pencil Company, filed suit for divorce against Mrs. Laura Schneegas, and one of the strangest stories to which the Atlanta public has ever been treated was then made public.

The woman who committed suicide at 27 Angier Place on May 6 was Mr. Schneegas' housekeeper, Miss Hannah Koester. She had never mingled with her neighbors and knew but few of them. Mr. Schneegas was of the same disposition, and when the public assumed that the dead woman was his wife, he let matters alone, dreading explanations. Only the undertakers were told, in order that proper certificates could be made out.

The suit for divorce revealed the truth of the occurrence, and is the result of two years' separation between husband and wife. Mrs. Schneegas is now in Jersey City.

NO NATIONAL CIRCUIT OF AUTOMOBILE RACES

New York, June 8.—Official announcement was made by the contest board of the Automobile Association today that the proposed national circuit of automobile races has been abandoned for this year. Too many dates and too long a period of racing are the reasons assigned for the collapse of the big project.

He pretty closely expressed the lightness, coolness and comfort of our underwear; and he estimates keenly the character of our shirts; and he expressed aptly the feeling of our lines of socks--

SULLIVAN BEATEN BY BILLY PAPKE

London, June 8.—Billy Papke, the American middleweight, tonight took the measure of Jim Sullivan, the middleweight champion of England, in nine rounds of fast and furious fighting. Again it was the fighter against the boxer, and the fighter won with ease.

The contest was for the middleweight championship of te world, a purse of $10,000 and a side bet. It was pulled off under the management of Hugh D. McIntosh, the Australian promoter, in Palladium, one of London's noted music halls, before a large crowd.

Fight a Gruelling One.

Throughout the fight was a gruelling one. Sullivan proved the cleverer at long range work, but Papke excelled at in-fighting. There was much clinching and hitting in the clinches, and the referee, Eugene Corri, was compelled to remain in the ring, having difficulty at times in separating the men. He warned Papke twice.

The meeting had been the sole topic of discussion in sporting circles for days, and large sums were paid for ringside seats. Notwithstanding that the fight had been advertised as "America v. England," Papke ruled a strong favorite at odds of 3 to 2, and 2 to 1.

Sullivan showed nervousness when he climbed into the ring, but after a few rounds seemed to recover confidence. For a time he was able to stand off Papke, who roughed it from the beginning, cleverly dodging slashing swings of the American, which, had they landed, would have ended the fight. Sullivan used his left and right with good judgment, but without affecting the stamina of Papke, who was able to take unlimited punishment. Towards the close of the ninth round Papke landed a savage uppercut which put Sullivan to the floor. He took a count of five and when the bell rang staggered blindly to his corner. When the call for the tenth round sounded Sullivan was unable to stand up and Corri awarded the fight to the American amid great applause.

FROCK'S CLAIMS NOT ALLOWED

Cincinnati, June 8.—The several claims of player Samuel Frock for salary following his release by the Boston National League club to the Atlanta club, of the Southern League, were dismissed by the national baseball commission today. The commission decided that his release from Boston to Atlanta was unconditional and that his claims were not just.

The appeal of H. J. Meek from the finding of the national board, which dismissed his claim for $470 against the Chattanooga club, of the Southern League, was decided in favor of the national board, whose finding was sustained by the national commission.

His appeal for mercy and the picture he drew of his family in imminent danger of starvation, gained for John H. Descher, once well known as a pitcher for the Brooklyn and Cincinnati Nationals, permission to play ball with a national agreement club for the rest of the season.

"I have never seen or heard a thing about Collins. If he was in Chattanooga when we were there, he was certainly hid," said Manager Holmes last night. "I have suspended him, and hope it is for life. I can't understand why Collins pulled such a stunt."

THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)

A good many theatergoers have been agreeably surprised at the busy Forsyth this week. There hasn't been any bette rsketch in Atlanta than "The Bandit," produced by E. F. Hawley and company. There has never been a better actor on the local vaudeville stage than Mr. Hawley. His impersonation of a Mexican bandit is as realistic as a stage picture could be. The scene is perfect in every detail, and has won admiration. Byers and Hermann, the pantomime artists, are clever in their novelty, "The Clown's Dream." One of these men is the most wonderful contortionist that has been seen here. The "smiling songs" and Miss Perry and Mr. White score one of the hits of the season, and help make the bill thoroughly entertaining.

Emma Bunting.
(At the Lyric.)

"Anita, the Singing Girl," is one of the most brilliant successes yet scored by little Emma Bunting, and if the dainty little star continues at the pace she has been going in the hit-making line since her return to Atlanta, the Lyric management will have to book to arrangements to increase the seating accommodations of the theater. At the two performances on Thursday the Lyric was crowded. Any one of the four thousand souls that witnessed the two performances will testify to that fact. And it was not exactly the sort of day that the managers counted on any unusual attendance. But it takes something more than hot weather to keep theatergoers away from the Lyric while Atlanta's most popular theatrical star is entertaining. Miss Bunting is delightful in the title role of the new play. It gives her a broader field than she has ever had in any other play she has presented, and her work establishes her as one of the cleverest stars that has ever been in the city.

WOMAN AND HER WORK---PROGRESS AND DEVELOPMENT IN THE HOME AND OUT OF IT MUST DRESS SUITS GO IN THE SUMMER TIME?

"I have been asked by a number of gentlemen to suggest that you agitate the question of whether or not men in this climate should be obliged to wear their full dress evening suits to evening parties, when the thermometer steams up to 97," said a lady yesterday, acting on the request that women suggest what women like to read in a woman's department.

"But what good would it do to agitate it in this department?" the writer queried; "men do not read this department."

"But the women do," was the reply, "and it is the women among whom the crusade is to be started, for it is the women who insist upon the men wearing their evening suits when the latter object.

"There is not a man who, during the last few weeks when he has had to wear a dress suit, has not been cross about it and asked: 'Will I have to wear my dress suit this hot night?'

"Of course you will, or look like a 'village cut-up,' is the invariable reply.

(He) "That is all right for you to talk with the little you have on."

(She) "But you certainly can't go in anything but a dress suit when I have on this full evening gown (chiffon over messaline—c'est tout).'

"One must obey the conventions no matter what the discomfort is—you do not suffer more than other men."

(He) "Well, this is the last time I go out this summer if I have to dress like this," and he upsets a bottle of extract on the mahogany dressing table and steps on the baby, who has appeared on the scene.

It seemed to the writer she had heard some comments akin to these by gentlemen out on pleasure bent, summer evenings, and their complaints are reasonable—with all due loyalty to the readers of this department.

Barring a wedding, which is an affair of dignity and solemnity as well as one of happiness and pleasure to those who attend, it would seem that men in a climate like ours would be excused from wearing an evening suit when the weather makes it almost intolerable. There are light and heavy weight evening suits, I am told by the tailor, but even the light weight suits are said to be cruelly warm in this weather.

Organizations have been started for nearly ever other movement under the sun, but this matter of a crusade against the evening suit for southern men in this bad old summer time, remains to be acted on.

Years ago Madame de Mille Graces, a charming widow, started an organization for the abolition of the white kid gloves at balls and soirees, because, as she told Lord Dundreary, in charming accent, "the goot emotions of de heart which one has, can not penetrate through the skeen of beasts and de kid gloves ees a bad custom."

This is a more practical period of social time, there are not so many romantic people as there were in the days of the play, "Our American Cousin," but surely women have not sacrificed all their sentiment to convention.

Surely they will stop and consider, that the "dear lords of creation" deserve some little comfort during the summer social campaign. Why can't there be a regulation evening attire which will make life more worth the living?

For instance there might be some agreement reached by which the men would promise if excused during the summer months from wearing the conventional evening suit, and something they prefer, they would not fuss a single time during the winter about putting it on when it should be worn.

It is said that many men even object to wearing their evening suits when they should wear them during the winter, but far be it from the functions of this department to go further into the matter of the evening suit, and when it should be worn than the love of humanity demands in hot weather.

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER ENTERTAINMENT.

An ideal combination of pleasure and profit is offered students at Brenau College Conservatory in the summer season. Teachers of music and oratory especially, and, in fact, all students in general, can spend a delightful vacation at Brenau and at the same time pursue interesting and helpful studies. Brenau has all the pleasures of a mountain resort with easily accessible city conveniences. Brenau is surrounded by pretty scenery. At its altitude, the climate is naturally healthful, cool and pleasant.

In addition to music and oratory the college offers instruction in Mathematics, English, History, Modern Languages and Domestic Sciences, either in class or private lessons.

The cost of the summer season at Brenau is not as much as is charged by most summer resorts—the accommodations are better; it would be difficult to select a more pleasing location.

A QUESTION ABOUT THE SERVANT PROBLEM

The education of the negro should begin where the education of the white child should begin in the kindergarten, the most primary department in modern educational program.

If it is considered necessary in equipping the child of the superior race, the one who has had the advantage of social experience, to begin at the earliest period to train the hand into usefulness along with his mind, certainly such an education is the more necessary for the child of the inferior race, who is told he must depend almost entirely on what his hand can do, for his service as an individual.

The grafting on of industrial training in the schools of the country has been called one of the progressive steps of modern education; thoughtful men have decided this. They have decided that no matter how sure a child may be that his training for life is to be for a profession, an occupation separated from even a business career or one that would require his knowledge of industrial activity, that he must nevertheless to be equipped completely for life, have the all-round education which calls for a training of the hand in the elementary and even secondary branches of education.

Realizing that constructive activities are those being called for in the south today, the average thoughtful southern man is trying to give his son the knowledge a technological school gives, no matter what the boy may select to do afterwards. Another effort equally as significant along practical lines is the movement to establish in the University of Georgia a department to teach boys business methods, a department similar to the department of business administration at Harvard, because eighty per cent of the students who have graduated from the University of Georgia, in the last ten years have gone into business activity. So stated Hon. Harry Hodgson, of the board of trustees of the university, at the conference for education in the south recently held in Jacksonville.

A Wave of Practical Work.

Now that this wave of practicability has found expression in our school systems everywhere for white children and they are slowly becoming more rationalized—making more for the training of men and women for actual life. I should like to put the question, what is being done to make more rational the system of education which the tax payers of both races are giving the negro's.

We tell the negro: "Here is a good school for you to go to; we want to be just to you."

We give him in the common schools almost the same training which we give the white child; he takes it remarkably well, but when he leaves school and asks for work and ventures into the field of labor where his natural racial ambition leads, he is told "no," that vocation cannot be yours, but we will give you good wages along industrial lines, and we need you, and are dependent upon you for domestic service."

Now what has the state or the local school or the rural school done toward working out a system of education which would be conducive to industrial and domestic training?

There is the habit among southern people who are not thoughtful and who are not studious of conditions to exclaim against all this "higher education of the negro which misguided philanthropists give him."

That may be warranted in regard to many institutions which have been handsomely endowed, but there are many which are handsomely endowed, and are giving practical demonstration of the very kind of education we claim we want the negro to have. For instance, I mention, from a studious investigation of the institution, the Hampton institute, for the education of the negro.

I hear the individual man or woman here exclaim: "Yes, but did you ever hear of a good cook, or a good seamstress, or a good housemaid coming from there?"

"My reply is: "Hampton is in Virginia; there have never been enough of the many graduates each year going out from there to fill in the state of Virginia alone the demand for teachers of industrial training and domestic science in the good system of rural schools being established in that state for the negro. Also, the records show that many a nice farm is being presided over by a negro housewife who got her training for home duties of Hampton, while her husband, likewise trained at Hampton, is running a farm, either for himself or for a white employer."

Complex Phases.

But it would require more space than this department admits to go into the wonderful system of education being demonstrated at Hampton. The point I want to make is that as the educational system for the white child has been found lacking, and new and more practical methods worked out for him, then certainly another system should be worked out for the negro child, whose activities in this section are limited, and from whom so much along certain lines are expected.

Innumerable communications have come to this department bearing on the inefficiency of the domestic negro servant, and asking why someting cannot be done about it. This inefficiency has been brought about by conditions complex, in operation for nearly fifty years. They cannot be eradicated in a day—a month—a year.

If we want the negro taught along industrial lines and along the lines of domestic service we must begin to give him the opportunity to get that training.

The other day in the examinations given out for teachers in the public schools of Atlanta, virtually the same examinations were given to the white and colored teachers.

This points to the fact that the same system of training prevails in both schools.

And in working out this educational matter in relation to the two races, it must not be forgotten that we have to reckon with a rapidly-enlarging element of negroes who do not have to enter into domestic service—but that is subject matter for another time.

In this matter of the servant question, we might as well face facts and see what conditions are, and what can be done to better them.

GOOD RECIPES.

Lady Cake.

Whites of ten eggs, three cups of sugar, four cups sifted flour, one of butter, one buttermilk, one-half teaspoon soda, one and one-half teaspoon cream tartar. Cream the butter, then mix sugar and butter together, beat whites, add flour and whites alternately, put in milk before the last cup of flour. Dissolve soda in spoonful of hot water, sift cream tartar in flour. Flavor with vanilla. Bake either as loaf or layers. This batter makes four layers. Use any of the following as filling.

Lady Baltimore Cake.

One cup butter, two cups sugar, three and one-half cups flour, one cup sweet milk, whites of six eggs, two level teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon rose water. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, beating continuously, then milk and flavoring, next the flour into which baking powder has been sifted, lastly the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, which should be folded lightly into the batter. Bake in three layers in rather hot oven.

Filling.

Dissolve three cups granulated sugar in one of boiling water, cook until it threads, pour over the beaten whites, stirring continually. Add one cup chopped raisins, one cup chopped nut meats, five figs cut into very thin strips. Ice top and sides of cake with this.

Waffles.

Take a cup of sifted corn meal, a tablespoonful of lard; scald the meal with the lard, let get cold, then add two eggs beaten separately, a quart of flour, a teaspoon of soda and enough buttermilk to make the batter of proper consistency; beat thoroughly and bake in hot irons; a few spoons of cold rice added is nice.

Spoon Egg Bread.

One pint sweet milk, one pint buttermilk, one tablespoon lard or butter, four iron kitchen spoonsful meal, one teaspoon soda, little salt, three eggs. Bake in deep pan.

Pie Crust.

Into three cups sifted flour stir two teaspoons of salt and one teaspoon baking powder, sift, turn into a mixing bowl, add one cup of lard; cut this into bits, keeping each piece covered with flour; do not use the hands. When the lard is cut into the tiniest bits add gradually enough ice water to make a dry crumbly paste, mixing it with a fork; turn upon a floured board and roll out. This paste may be used two hours after making, but is better if allowed to stand in a cold place over night. It will not cause dispepsia.

STOCK DIRECTORY TO BE PREPARED

State Veterinarian Will Help Boost Cattle and Live Stock Industries.

Are you a breeder of registered stock?

And if you are, do you wish to keep in close touch with the market and find ready purchasers for your stock?

If so, send your name and address, together with the breed of stock that you raise, to Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, state veterinarian at the state capitol, and get your name in the directory of stock breeders which Dr. Bahnsen intends to prepare for the benefit of the breeders and the information of the public. For this service there will be no charge.

Dr. Bahnsen states that the agricultural department daily receives numerous inquiries from prospective purchasers of stock who seek information as to the names and addresses of breeders, and where they will be likely to find the kind of stock they wish to buy.

"In addition to furnishing information to the public such a directory will serve to give a great boost to the cattle and other live stock industries in the state," said Dr. Bahnsen.

NO SUNDAY BASEBALL WANTED BY GIDEONS

Christian Commercial Traveling Men Will Oppose Such a Law in Legislature.

The Christian Commercial Traveling Men, at their monthly meeting at the Kimball hotel last Sunday afternoon, unanimously adopted the following preamble and resolutions regarding the movement now being put on foot to have Georgia laws revised so as to permit baseball and other sports to be played on the Sabbath day:

Whereas, efforts are being made in many states to so revise the laws as to permit baseball, golf, tennis and other games to be played on the Sabbath day, thus violating the commandment to "remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," etc.; and

Whereas, We learn that this movement has reached our own state and meetings have been called for the purpose of working up an anti-Christian sentiment in favor of such Sabbath desecration; therefore, be it

Resolved, 1. That the Christian Commercial Traveling Men, known as Gideons, are urged to use all their influence to prevent any such laws being passed in our state, and are requested to call upon and write all members of our legislature persuading them to do all in their power to defeat any attempt to pass new laws or annul present statutes which now forbid such Sabbath desecration.

Resolved, 2. That the Gideons ask the earnest and immediate support of all Christian churches, pastors, newspapers and citizens to aid them in defeating all such legislation, following the good example of New York, Massachusetts and several other states that have successfully defeated such measures. The Gideons also ask the cooperation of all Baraca classes, Sunday schools, Y. M. C. A.'s and Epworth Leagues to assist in this work, circulating petitions and asking the members of our legislature to assist us.

PREDICTS VICTORY FOR SEN. TERRELL

Benjamin Blackburn Makes a Statement on Senatorial Election.

In a statement issued yesterday Benjamin M. Blackburn, secretary of the executive department at the state capitol, and a strong personal friend and political supporter of Senator Joseph M. Terrell, forecasts that the legislature will elect Senator Terrell to complete the term in the United States senate which was made vacant by the death of Senator Clay.

Regarding the election, Mr. Blackburn says:

"The newspaper reports of probable candidates for governor, in the event that Governor Smith is elected to the senate, aside from being misleading in speculative result, are not calculated to help certain aspiring politicians, who are alleged to be engaged in a secret hunt for gubernatorial honors, at the expense of one who is now faithfully serving the people in the United States senate.

"Senator Terrell is busy attending to the interests of Georgia, and although some of his friends seem to think that these reports should have caused him to return home, he remains in Washington, utterly indifferent to the wiles by which unworthy politics would seek to dismantle a most worthy representative of the people.

"But schemes will not avail. The hoped-for contingency will not arise. Senator Terrell will be elected to complete the term made vacant by the unfortunate death of Senator Clay. Current rumor, fed by the purpose of the opposition to gather fictitious strength unto itself, and the eagerness of personal ambition to make possible a vacancy by gloomy, long-faced prediction, will not lead the legislature to throw this state into the whirlpool of another campaign for governor.

"I doubt whether a half dozen of those who talk so confidently of results know the attitude of a half dozen representatives in the senatorial race.

"Be that as it may, the people of Georgia believe in fair play, and the legislature may be trusted to see to it that so good a man as Joe Terrell is not made the victim of unworthy design and unholy combination."

ASK ASSISTANCE OF GOVERNMENT

In the Building of Sand-Clay Roads in Georgia.

Waycross, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—An effort is being made by the South Georgia Good Roads Association, which was organized at an enthusiastic meeting in Waycross May 26, to have the United States bureau of public roads established a branch office in Georgia in order that the counties building sand-clay roads or others may get direct assistance.

It is believed that a little assistance at the very beginning of the sand-clay work in various sections will result in good roads where probably mud roads might exist.

The association has secured promises of hearty support in all parts of the state in the work outlined, and it is to make the work of some direct and practical benefit that the government's assistance has been requested.

ALBANY STARTS MOVE FOR "SPOTLESS TOWN"

Albany, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—With prominent members of the Woman's Club of Albany in charge of the work and the city subdivided into many districts, the first step in a campaign which, it is promised, will make Albany a real "spotless town" was taken today under interesting and more or less picturesque auspices.

The women who had voluntarily assumed the burden of cleaning Albany met at the city hall at an early hour and sallied forth to the various districts to which they had been assigned. They wore sun hats and short walking skirts and it soon became evident that they meant business. No premises were too sacred for them to invade, and the vim with which they attacked rubbish-burdened yards was a caution.

The cleaning-up program is to be continued without cessation. The ladies say they are going to set aside regular days for the repetition of the dose.

END COMES PEACEFULLY FOR COL. J. H. LOWE

Prominent Confederate Veteran Died While Sitting in Chair on Front Porch.

Buena Vista, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—Colonel J. H. Lowe passed away peacefully Tuesday afternoon while sitting on the porch of the Lowe hotel at this place, of which he was the proprietor.

Colonel Lowe was 78 years old the 5th day of May just past. He was married in early manhood to Miss Lucy Ann Haynes and nine children blessed the union. He is survived by his wife and six children.

At the beginning of the great civil war he enlisted as captain of Company G, Thirty-first Georgia regiment. He rose in rank from captain to major and from major to colonel of Evans' Gordon's and Lawton's brigades and was in charge of a division at the time of surrender. He participated in many important engagements and received one wound during his four years' service.

In the early seventies he was elected by the people of Stewart county to the legislature. He moved with his family from Stewart county to Buena Vista about twenty-five years ago. He has served his adopted town several times as mayor.

The funeral services were conducted at the Lowe House Wednesday afternoon and the body interred in the Methodist cemetery. The sympathy of the community is extended the bereaved ones.

AN IDEAL VACATION.

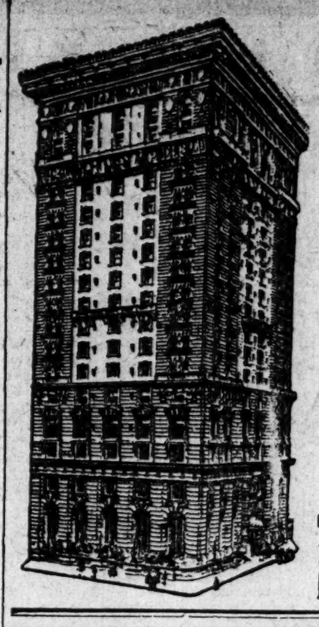

As a rule, summer in the city is dull and uninteresting, and the thoughts turn naturally to the country, and particularly the mountains. An ideal combination of vacation opportunities is offered by the Riverside Naval Academy and Summer Camp, located among the foothills of the Blue Ridge, near Lake Warner.

Students may live either in tents on in the elegant buildings of the academy, as they prefer. The academy and camp are located about two miles from the city, but near the electric car line, affording advantages of the city as well as the country.

Students enjoy all outdoor sports and receive special drill under competent naval officers in boating and elementary naval tactics, as well as in swimming. Each day is filled with activity which is both pleasant and instructive.

HOT FIGHT OVER NEW DISTRICT

Will Face Legislature When Matter Comes Up for Consideration.

Waycross, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—Any effort that is made in the approaching legislature to redistrict the state and give the twelfth district to some certain section for political reasons or to give it to a part of the state not showing a large increase in population between 1900 and 1910, will be vigorously opposed by representatives from this section.

A conference of a number of the senators and representatives-elect has just been held, and they are opposed to the schemes advanced at this time.

Their attitude indicates that redistricting the state will not be such an easy job this summer.

ALMA WANTS NEW COUNTY

Enthusiastic Mass Meeting in South Georgia Town.

Alma, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—An enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Alma and vicinity was held today in the chamber of commerce hall. It was clearly demonstrated that the people to be affected by the creation of the proposed new county of Bleckley are well organized with the determination to launch a campaign at the coming session of the general assembly that will lead to the creation of a new county.

Bleckley county would be created from a portion of Appling, Ware and Pearce counties, and is centrally located between the county sites of all the surrounding counties and almost divides the travel equally between them. There are a number of strong and logical reasons why the new county should be created which will be made public when the general assembly meets at the capitol.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL THE MARKETS

RAIN IN EASTERN BELT MADE COTTON DECLINE

General Selling Set In When Weather Report Was Published.

New York, June 8.—Reports of good rains over the greater part of the eastern belt relieving apprehensions of drought in that section were followed by more/or less general selling in the cotton market today, and while one of the leading bull brokers was a persistent buyer, presumably on account of continued dry weather in the southwest, the market closed barely steady net unchanged to 9 points lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1@7 points, on covering by some of yesterday's sellers, who were probably influenced by the fairly steady showing of the Liverpool market and the failure of the weather map to show any rain, except at a few points along the seaboard. Old crop positions were barely steady right after the opening, owing to a renewal of liquidation, but unfavorable crop accounts from the southwest helped the new crop months and during the first half hour fall and winter deliveries sold about 10 to 13 points above the closing figures of yesterday. Offerings increased sufficiently to check the upward movement around this level, with continued liquidation of the old crop positions, tending to unsettle the market, which became very weak right after the publication of the official weather details, showing good and quite general rains in the sections of the eastern belt from which drought reports had been received earlier in the week. A prominent bull broker continued to buy new crop positions on a scale down, and after selling 2 to 12 points net lower, the market rallied to a net advance of 5@8 points on covering, but when moderate profit-taking by shorts had run its course it looked as though the leading bull was about the only buyer, and new crop positions reached the lowest point in the late trading. The close was a little up from the bottom on the near months, but at practically the lowest on later deliveries, which were not unchanged to 5 points under yesterday's close and about 15 points off from the early high point.

Receipts today, 3,161 bales against 1,588 last week and 3,885 last year. For the week, 20,000 bales, against 27,724 last week and 41,701 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 200 bales against 1,226 last year and at Houston 115 bales against 515 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet, 10 points lower; middling uplands 15.85; middling gulf 16.10; no sales.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, June 8.—Spot cotton quiet and steady, unchanged, middling, 15 7-16. Sales on the spot, 260 bales; to arrive, none; low ordinary, 12, nominal; ordinary, 12 13-16, nominal; good ordinary, 14¼; strict good ordinary, 14⅝; low middling, 14 15-16; strict low middling, 15 3-16; middling, 15 7-16; strict middling, 15 11-16; good middling, 15¾; strict good middling, 16 1-16; middling fair, 16 5-16; middling fair to fair, 16 1-16; fair, 17 1-16, nominal; receipts, 200; stock, 76,713.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 4 to 8 points, on good cables and an unfavorable weather map. Shorts who sold yesterday were good buyers on and immediately after the first call. Outside buying was in evidence. Ring traders generally took the long side for a turn. The weather reports showed scattered and light showers in the eastern half of the belt, but no rain in the western half. Temperatures continued high everywhere. At the end of the first half hour of business, prices were 9 to 10 points over yesterday's close.

Up to 10 o'clock, the market was very steady, and had an advancing tendency, but at that hour the supplementary weather reports were posted, and they showed heavy rains in the Carolinas. This caused a wave of selling that broke the market 12 to 17 points from the highest. Selling was about evenly divided between the two accounts. Much long cotton was thrown overboard, and the gossip of the market was that between the selling out of yesterday afternoon and this morning the trailing long interest in the new crops had been pretty well eliminated.

Late in the morning, the list stood 3 to 7 points under yesterday's close. At noon, prices were 1 up to 1 down compared with yesterday's close.

In the afternoon session the market was dull and easy.

At 2 o'clock prices were 2 to 3 points under yesterday's close.

The market closed steady at a net decline of 4 to 12 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, June 8.—The cotton goods markets rule quiet and steady. Cotton yarns are listless. Dress goods continue light. Men's wear serges for spring are being ordered by the clothing trade and orders are being taken at value.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS FRIDAY.

New Orleans, 2,500 to 2,700, against 431 last year.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, June 8.—Many showers and good rains occurred in the Carolinas last night and probably more today so the drought can be said to be broken in that section. Now the attention of the trade is turned to the southwest, where a good rain would be very beneficial over a vast area of country. The weakness of July and August yesterday caused other holders to liquidate today through fear that the large holders may have been transferring their cotton to the new crop. At one time there was an eager demand for the new crop, but this finally ceased and the market sagged, closing lower than last evening, excepting upon December and January, which were practically unchanged. We consider that the market will continue to be controlled by the southwestern weather conditions.

Rice.

New Orleans, June 8.—The rice market was very quiet today, transactions in all grades being light. Quotations remained unchanged. Receipts: Rough, 997; clean, none; millers, 997. STRONG EARLY IN DAY, STOCKS CLOSED HEAVY

Reports of Copper Producers and the Government Grain Report Were Factors.

New York, June 8.—Movements of stocks were governed largely today by influence apart from the usual stock market routine, chief among which which were the government's crop report and the monthly statement of the Copper Producers. High expectations were held of bullish exhibits in both cases and in neither instances were these expectations entirely fulfilled. The market, which had been decidedly strong early in the day, became heavy upon publication of the reports and closed with material losses among the active stocks.

The deterioration of the condition of winter wheat from 86.1 a month ago to 80.4 placed the figures below the ten-year average, which in Wall street was regarded as unfavorable news, although it was recognized that a decline during the month of May was normal and that weather conditions last month plainly foreshadowed a setback. This report served to blight the hopes of optimistic traders who had bought stocks in the belief that the showing would be a more bullish one. It was pointed out, however, that the report reflected the condition on June 1 and that the conditions since that time had been in many ways more favorable for the growing crops.

The unusually good report on spring wheat counteracted to some degree the effect of the winter wheat exhibit and the statement, as a whole, did not materially alter conservative expectations of a prosperous year. Bear traders, however, seized upon it as an opportunity for a raid and in their efforts were assisted by disappointed bulls. The selling during the last half hour, following publication of the report, was the heaviest of the day and prices fell off to the lowest point of the session.

Many reports of pronounced improvement in the copper trade had led to such confident expectations of a favorable showing in The Producers' monthly statement that some disappointment was shown when an increase of 440,000 pounds in stocks on hand was reported. Amalgamated Copper rallied for a brief interval, but later fell away in common with other metal stocks. The encouraging feature of the report was an increase of more than 13,000,000 pounds in domestic consumption. Despite reports of a lively demand from abroad, however, foreign consumption was slightly below April and production increased 8,877,000 pounds.

Trading on the stock exchange was active, with considerable confusion of sentiment and irregularity in prices as a result of the various influences to which the market was subjected. In the first hour prices were carried up rapidly, gains of from 1 to 2 points being made by many of the important issues. The uncertainty as to the character of the copper and crop reports, however, halted the buying and the market became dull. Prices ebbed away slowly until the heavy selling of the late session was begun.

United States Steel showed evidence of the pressure which had been observed almost continuously during the week. Persistent buying of the Hill stock was continued. Denver and Rio Grande preferred dropped four points.

Bonds were firm. A few active issues were lower on profit-taking. Total sales, par value, $4,807,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

FEARED THE EFFECT OF GRAIN REPORT

Wheat Market Heavy Most of the Session—Closed at Decline.

Chicago, June 8.—Fear as to the effect the government crop report would have on the price of wheat made the market heavy today. Final trading showed a net decline of ⅝ to ⅞@⅞. The end of the session left corn the same as last night to ¼ below, oats off a shade to ½@⅝, and provisions running from unchanged to 20c advance.

Although the Washington news turned out to be less bearish than expected, the document came too late for inspection previous to the wheat crowd deserting the pit. Considerable of a rally occurred in the afternoon, but the [illegible] stronger feeling was apparently due in the main to Nebraska [illegible] talking of excessive heat and of prospects for more. Earlier in the day, however, the weather had been reported as generally seasonable, with the harvest making fine progress over a rapidly widening area. Furthermore, there were signs of another week of huge world shipments, and it was said the condition of Canadian fields rate very high. Accordingly, despite the reaction near the close, July, which had ranged from 90¾ to 91⅞, was at the finish ¾@⅞ net lower at 91⅝@91⅞.

Liberal receipts, favorable weather and absence of shipping demand acted as bear helps in corn. By reason of the short interest having been much reduced, the market also suffered somewhat from lack of the usual support. July fluctuated between 53¾ and 54⅜@54¾, closing ¼c down, but steady at 54½. Cash grades were easy; No. 2 new finished at 54@54½.

Realizing sales weighed down the oats market, where was disappointment, too, because elevators were about the only buyers of car lots. High and low points for July were 37⅝ and 36¾, with last sales at 37, a decline of ½@⅝ under last night's.

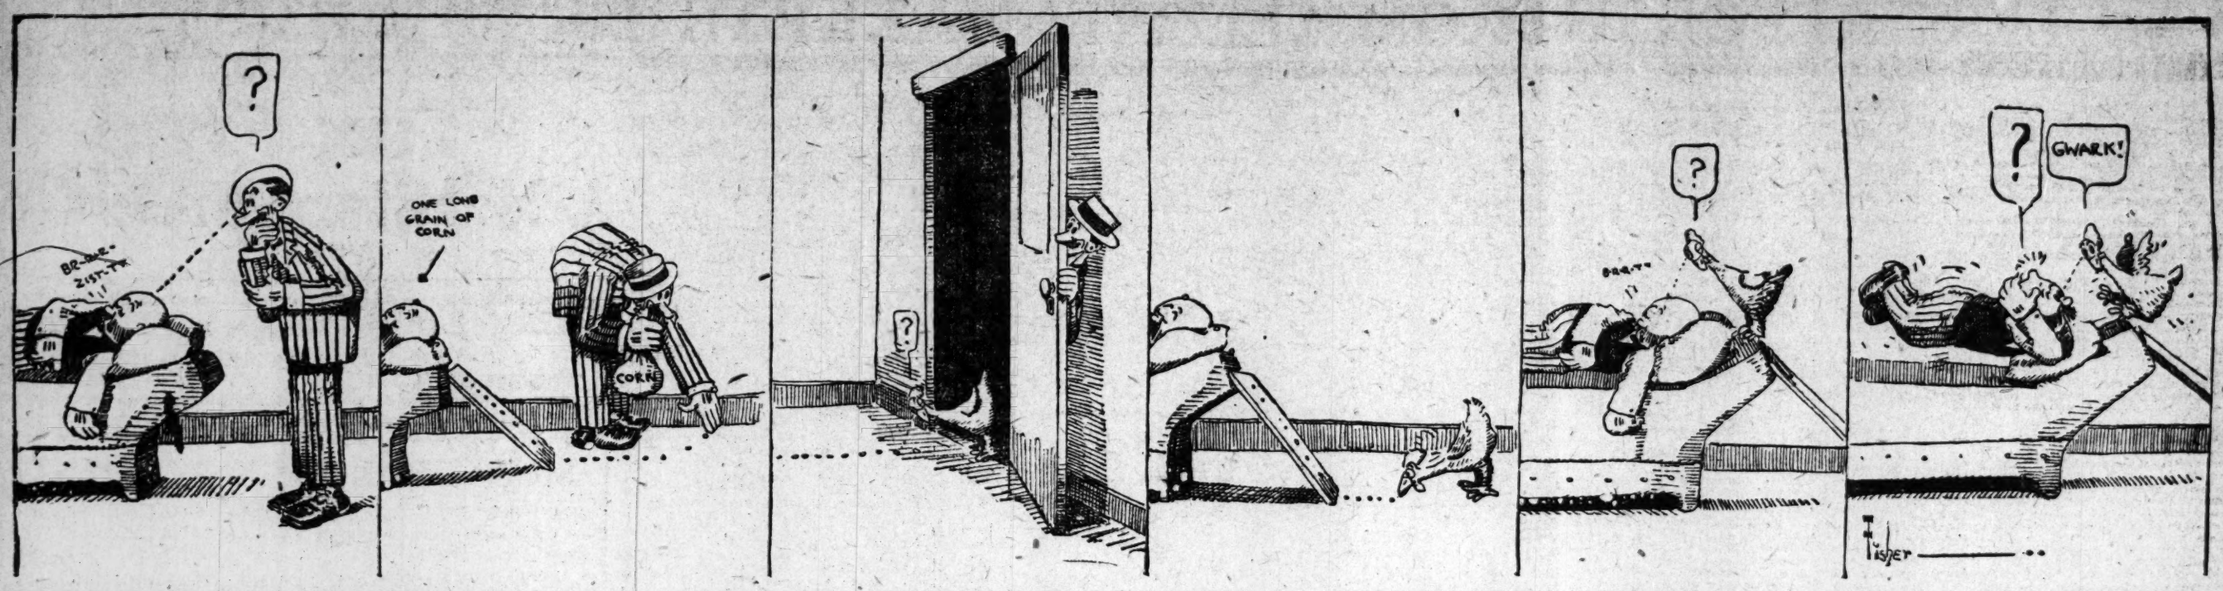

Provisions displayed a tendency to rise on account of an advance in the price of hogs. As a result, pork closed 15 to 20c dearer than 24 hours before, with lard and ribs varying from last night's level to 7½c gain.

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS.

Good to choice pigs, 80 to 100 average, 5¾@6.

Above quotations apply to corn-fed hogs.

Cattle receipts continue light. A few loads of good steers and heifers received this week were sold promptly at good prices. Medium cattle are especially scarce, and purely local shipments have been of inferior quality. Good cattle continue in best demand. But few grass cattle have reached this market so far this season, and have sold in most cases at a big discount on account of their inferior quality. This grade of cattle are expected to do better with the advance of the season.

Hog receipts continue about equal to the demand. Prices about steady, with a week ago.

Rome, Ga., June 8.—(Special.)—On July 1, the Rome postoffice will be advanced to the first class. The postal receipts have advanced steadily year by year. They are now more than twice as great as they were ten years ago and having passed the $40,000 mark the postoffice will be advanced from the second to the first class. Works Urges Direct Vote.

Washington, June 8.—After a speech by Senator Works, of California, urging the resolution for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, the senate today adjourned until next Monday, when under agreement a vote will be taken on the resolution. Mr. Works declared that the senate had been brought into disrepute through corrupt practices attending election of senators and he predicted the destruction of the United States form of government if such practices should continue.

L. D. TYSON HERE FOR EXPOSITION

Extends Invitation to the Next Appalachian Exposition.

L. D. Tyson, president of the Appalachian Exposition, which is held at Knoxville, Tenn., each fall, is in the city in the interest of the exposition.

Mr. Tyson made an official visit to President Fred Paxon, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, yesterday, extending through him a most cordial invitation to the officers and members of that organization to attend the exposition which will run from September 11 to October 1. Later in the day Mr. Tyson also called upon Mayor Courtland S. Winn, requesting the honor of his presence and that of the city council at the exposition. Invitations to a number of other prominent Atlantans were also extended by the president in person.

In speaking of the coming exposition, Mr. Tyson states that residents of Knoxville and Tennessee generally are planning to make the event an even more pronounced success than that of last year, if such a thing be possible. He paid the part Georgia played in making the exposition a success a glowing tribute and expressed the hope that "Atlanta Day" this fall will find a still greater number of Georgians in his city than were in the large delegation which went from Atlanta on a special train last year.

The exposition, explains Mr. Tyson, is not a Tennessee project solely, but an event calculated to be of vast benefit to the entire south, as it has for its object the exploitation of the natural and manufactured resources of the entire Appalachian section.

PROF. FRANK GLENN DIES IN HIS TYLER, TEX., HOME

He Was a Native Georgian and Was Widely Connected in This State.

On May 12, 1911, at his home in Tyler, Texas, Prof. Frank A. Glenn died after an illness of several months. He was a native Georgian, born near Jefferson, Jackson county, October 17, 1858. His father, Prof. John W. Glenn, was one of the best known educators in the state, and for many years was at the head of Marist Institute at Jefferson. Graduating from this institute he later took his A. M. degree at the Peabody Normal in Nashville, afterwards teaching successfully as superintendent of the schools of Henrietta, San Angelo and other localities in Texas. For several years past he has been interested in the Tyler Business College, which has branches in several states, the one in Georgia being located at Athens. Professor Glenn was not only well known as an educator, but was an active and faithful member of the Marvin Methodist church at Tyler. He was twice married, first to Miss Carrie Wilson, of Longview, Texas, October 17, 1883, and from this union there are six living children. His second marriage was to Mrs. Margaret Ogden, and she with one son survives him. He leaves a large number of relatives and friends in Georgia and other states who will learn with genuine sorrow of his death.

In addition to his wife and children in Texas he is survived in Georgia by his mother, Mrs. Mary J. Glenn; an uncle, Prof. S. P. Orr, and an aunt, Miss Margery E. Orr, all of Athens, and a sister, Mrs. W. J. Davenport, and an uncle, Rev. Wilbur Fiske Glenn, of Atlanta.

SHOWERS OF SHOT AMAZE BROAD ST. PEDESTRIANS

What is seemingly a phenomena, but what is really a good and elusive practical joke, is the nightly shower of shot that peppers passersby on the corner of Broad and Marietta streets between the hours of 9 and 10:30 o'clock. Since Monday night people passing this corner have been greeted with a veritable shower of tiny shot. Wee bits of lead that seemingly come from the clouds hail on the face, hat and all over the street.

So far the one perpetrating the joke has not been apprehended, although police and detectives have worked on the case since the beginning. One can stand on each of the four corners and receive a shot full in the face. Therefore, it remains a mystery, and the shower seemingly comes from the sky.

Police and detectives stationed all along the vicinity have been unable to locate anyone in windows of neighboring buildings, and they are at a loss to clear up the affair. When a policeman appears in the light he is a target for a terrific shower and is forced to dodge under shelter. That it is a practical joke is plainly shown, but who and where is the jokester?

The shower began Monday night and has lasted each night since. It begins promptly at 9 and ends exactly at 10:30.

COLLEGE PARK CITIZENS RAISE $1,500 FOR SCHOOL

An enthusiastic meeting was held by College Park citizens at the College Park Methodist church last night, for the purpose of raising funds for purchasing a school lot, and $1,500 was contributed by the large gathering. This is about half of what is needed, and a committee on subscriptions will immediately be put to work securing donations.

B. S. Huie was elected permanent chairman of the subscription committee and A. C. Broom secretary. The committee will report at another meeting Thursday night. A report will also be made on a suitable situation.

The proposed school building and grounds will cover an entire block. The county has agreed to build a $1,500 building if the city furnished the location. The College Park Woman's Club, which was present in a body, displayed much interest and enthusiasm. Miss Mitchell, principal of the College Park school, delivered a speech on the need of a new building, and the ladies who spoke were: Mrs. D. C. Lyle, president of the College Park Woman's Club; Mrs. B. D. Gray and Mrs. C. F. Holt. The men who spoke were: A. C. Broom, Alonzo Richardson, B. M. Kener, W. J. Harris, J. H. Owens, G. C. Trimble, J. E. Lambert, J. A. Oakley, B. D. Gray, D. C. Lyle and W. S. Cox.

Dr. Keller to Stand Trial.

BRANTLEY TALKS OF WOOLEN TARIFF

Georgian Strongly Supports the Democratic Bill for Revision of Schedule K.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 8.—(Special.)—Representative Brantley, of Georgia, a member of the ways and means committee, made today the second speech on the democratic side in support of the committee bill to revise schedule K (the wool schedule), and was listened to with the closest attention. He followed Republican Leader Mann, who opened the debate for the republican side.

Adverting to the speech of Minority Leader Mann he said:

"His plea for delay, his appeal for the sacredness of schedule K as it is written, his flippant and jocular efforts to divert attention from the real issue, fall on deaf ears on this side for these pleas and appeals were submitted last November to the great court of the public opinion—the American people at the ballot box, and there determined against him. We of the majority, as agents of that great court, have naught to do now save execute its decree."

The speaker denied that the republican party had discovered or invented the policy of protection, and said that the first tariff law ever enacted, passed July 4, 1789, recognized protection by reciting that the law was enacted not only for taxes, but for the protection of American industries; he said every tariff law ever written contained protection, and that protection could not be avoided save by absolute free trade, or by taxing non-competitive articles only, and that the democratic party did not and never had stood for either proposition.

Tracing the growth of the republican doctrine of protection, he said the party at first only wanted to add to "infant industries" protection to wages of labor, next included entire cost of production, culminating in the platform of 1908, declaring for protection of profits.

He ridiculed and condemned the theory and practice of republicans. He quoetd liberally from Presidents Polk and Jackson and Secretary Walker in support of his argument that a duty could not be laid on a competitive article without protecting that article; and said the incidental and inevitable protection that went with a revenue duty was in the early days not only recognized, but approved.

He strongly supported the ways and means committee bill, saying it made the issue between a tariff for revenue whose rates were competitive and a tariff for protection whose rates were prohibitory.

Personally, he expressed a preference for laying a duty on raw wool, because to tax the manufactured wool and leave the raw wool free, would, he said, discriminate against the wool grower by doubly protecting the manufacturer.

He laid down no rule that raw materials should always be taxed, but he objected to the rule that it should never be taxed. The true rule, in his opinion, was that where a revenue tax was laid upon a manufactured article, the raw material of which was largely produced in this country, a revenue tax should also be placed on the raw material. He said he knew of no other way to do justice to all interests.

The amount of revenue necessary to be raised from a given commodity, said Mr. Brantley, should first be determined, and then apportioned between the finished product and the raw material; that neither should have anything but a revenue duty, and that the advantage accruing to the commodity by reason of the tax should be apportioned between the manufacturer and the producer of the raw material. He condemned any law that would require a wool grower or farmer to sell his product at a free trade price, only to buy it back with its value arbitrarily advanced by a tariff tax.

VAUDEVILLE AT FORSYTH CLOSES TOMORROW NIGHT

Atlanta will have to worry along without Keith vaudeville for a few weeks at least.

Saturday night the curtain will be rung down at the Forsyth on this class of entertainment, and beginning Monday afternoon moving pictures will take its place. The regular Keith vaudeville bookings will be resumed late in August.

The change has been made by the Wells management owing to the difficulty found in persuading high class acts to make the jump to Atlanta during the summer months. Most of the other vaudeville houses have been closed for several weeks, with pictures replacing the acts. Recently Manager Cardoza made a trip to Cincinnati and other cities to get a line on the success of the pictures there.

Six reels a day will be offered, and there will be a daily change of program. The house will open at noon and will run without intermission until 11 o'clock at night.

SUGAR TRUST PROBERS READY TO BEGIN WORK

List of Witnesses to Be Summoned Is Agreed Upon.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 8.—(Special.)—Following an extended conference between the members of the Hardwick investigating committee with United States District Attorney Wise, of New York, and later with James M. Beck, general counsel of the American Sugar Refining Company, the list of witnesses who will be first summoned to testify before the committee in the sugar trust investigation were today agreed upon.

Telegrams were sent during the afternoon to the parties whose presence is desired, asking if they would appear before the committee in Washington next Monday morning at 10 o'clock without the formality of a subpoena being issued.

Among them are officers and directors of the American Sugar Refining Company.

District Attorney Wise, who conducted the case for the government against the sugar trust for underweighing importations of sugar, was questioned at length by members of the committee, and reviewed that case in great detail.

The indications are that the house committee will go into the investigation of the sugar trust with exhaustive thoroughness and that the inquiry will last until late in the summer, and possibly be continued even after the adjournment of the extra session of congress.

By Joseph Wardin.

Although the sun's rays are a great aid to every poultry raiser as a warming agent in winter and as a cleaning and purifying agent at all seasons, it is necessary that the growing chicks and moulting fowls have a limited amount of protection from them during the hot summer months, as is required for reasonable comfort. Too much heat from the rays of the sun is almost as damaging in the summer as is dampness in winter. Chicks will not grow satisfactorily and fowls will not be vigorous and profitable if confined in yards or runs where the midsummer sun makes the temperature almost unbearable, or if free in an open field, where there is neither brush nor tree to intercept its rays.

The poultry raiser whose birds have free range among fruit or other trees, corn fields, cotton fields, etc., has the shade problem solved, but the raisers who keeps their pets on limited acres where no trees or shade grow must provide artificial shade. This can be done in several ways that will answer the purpose to a certain extent.

Roofs made of boards and supported by posts at each corner, or shelter tents made of burlap canvas, old carpets, etc., serve the purpose well if high enough to permit the air to circulate under them. Such

PEACHTREE ROAD AUCTION

ON WEDNESDAY, June 14, at 4 p. m., we will sell at auction seven lots on Peachtree Road, just south of Buckhead.

IT IS USELESS for us to dilate upon the desirability of this property. It commences 275 feet north of Peachtree Avenue, and is opposite the beautiful home of Hon. J. M. Slaton. It is bounded on the south by the property of Col. Reuben R. Arnold and on the north by Mr. Walter Pharr.

THREE of these lots will front Peachtree Road, one will be 79 feet front, two will be 90 feet front each with a depth of over 900 feet. Four lots will front Lexie Street and will be 50x300 feet.

EVERY ONE knows Peachtree Road and it is useless for us to say anything along that line. These lots are on top of the Buckhead hill entirely away from any creeks and the elevation puts them out of reach of contamination.

THE STOREHOUSE on the lots will be removed.

THERE IS A WATER MAIN in the street in front of the property. The Buckhead trolley stops almost in front of this property.

PEACHTREE ROAD is eighty feet wide and has been oiled and is dustless. These lots are only three minutes' walk from Buckhead and twenty-five minutes from the center of the city by trolley.

TAKE THE topographical map recently gotten out by the United States Government and you will see a ring drawn around Buckhead which means that for a mile or so in every direction the elevation is greater than the surrounding country and which also means that within this circle lies the most desirable residence property in Fulton county.

GET IN THIS CIRCLE. Get right in the pathway of progress. Buy one or more of these lots. If you want to make money here is your chance. If you want a home site that for elevation, desirable location, finest highway, best car service and not a single objectionable feature and that will enhance in value just as surely as the sun rises and sets, buy one of these lots.

WE INVITE you to go out and look the property over and select your lot in advance. Mr. Anderson, the proprietor of the store, will gladly show you the property.

TERMS, one-fourth cash, balance in one, two and three years with interest at 6 per cent. For plats and further information, call at our office.

35--RESIDENCE LOTS--35 AT AUCTION

A SUB-DIVISION OF THE HARPER BROTHERS' PROPERTY ON HOWELL MILL ROAD, NEAR COX'S ROAD, SATURDAY, JUNE 10, AT 3 P. M., ON THE PREMISES.

BEYOND the waterworks and the Seaboard Air Line freight terminals and adjoining on the south the residential development known as "North Side Park," and only a short distance from the Evan P. Howell county school.

HOWELL MILL ROAD

IS a prominent highway connecting Marietta street and the manufacturing and industrial enterprises which abut it with a large part of the northern portion of Fulton county, intersecting with both the Roswell and the Pace's Ferry roads. It is one of the roads most used by automobilists (who use it either going or coming) in making the run by the elegant homes on Pace's Ferry road. In every sense it is a road that "goes somewhere."

IMPROVEMENTS IN SIGHT

THE CITIZENS in this neighborhood are banded together for the improvement and development of this section. Their efforts are meeting with success. We are informed that the property owners have given the necessary land to widen Howell Mill road; also that the street car company has expressed a willingness to co-operate and are now figuring on an extension of the service out to the Seaboard freight yards (only a short distance from these lots) and possibly on (beyond these lots) to North Side Park. We believe that the extension out to the freight yards will be made within a few months. If you will go out and study the conditions you will agree with us.

THESE LOTS ARE BOTH DESIRABLE AND ATTRACTIVE.

BECAUSE they offer quite a variety to choose from, both in size and shape. Some are regular residence lots; some are nearly one-half acre in size; some lie level; some lie low; some lie high; some lie rolling; some have shade; some have none; some have running water; some of them have been in cultivation, and quite a number of them front on a street which runs along on a high natural ridge, which is both healthful and beautiful.

PLEASE GO OUT AND SELECT YOUR LOT BEFORE THE SALE.

YOU will find one to please you. The chicken fancier, the gardener and the florist can all be suited here.

BECAUSE OF ITS LOCATION, BOTH IMMEDIATE AND GENERAL, THIS PROPERTY WILL STEADILY GROW IN VALUE.

THIS immediate neighborhood is logically the place for the homes of the great army of men and women who are employed by the many industrial and manufacturing enterprises within a radius of a mile, taking the National Stock Yards as a center. There must be fifteen to twenty thousand people within the above circle who earn good wages.

BUY A BIG LOT AND BE HAPPY. THE TERMS ARE EASY.

FOR all lots fronting on Howell Mill road, a cash payment of $50 and $10 per month. For all other lots, a cash payment of $25 and $10 per month. Seven per cent simple interest on all notes. Three per cent will be allowed off for all cash.

SOMETHING VALUED BY ALL WILL BE GIVEN AWAY. COME.

HOW TO GET THERE. Take either the Marietta Street cars or the Luckie Street cars. If you take the Marietta Street cars get off at the Howell Mill Road. If you take the Luckie Street cars get off at the end of the line. From either place we will take you in automobiles (free) to the sale.

WEST END PARK
ON THURSDAY, JUNE 15, AT 4 O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON,

We are going to sell 28 lots in the very choicest part of West End Park. These lots front on South Gordon Street and Westwood Avenue, and embrace six lots in block "C" and all of block "I."

The owners of this property, through Mr. W. J. Davis, President, have spent an immense amount of money laying out beautiful streets, grading the lots, laying sewer and water mains and tiled sidewalk and curbing, so as to give to this property every improvement and convenience.

The lots themselves lie beautifully, will require no grading, but are now ready for building.

About thirty beautiful homes have already been erected and are now occupied; and the class of improvements gives assurance that this property will permanently be of the highest order.

Capt. W. G. Raoul, a man of superb taste and business judgment, recently bought from us a lot in West End Park for a friend of his, and stated that to him it was the most attractive subdivision around Atlanta for a person of moderate means and good taste, who would want to enjoy every convenience amid the best surroundings at a reasonable price.

About ninety lots have already been sold and the great majority of them will be built upon at an early date.

Terms Extraordinary

In order to meet the demand of a large number of persons who desire to use their cash money in the building of a house, we are going to offer these lots on terms of $200 cash, balance $15 per month, with 7 per cent simple interest.

ON SATURDAY, JUNE 17th, AT FOUR O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON

We are going to sell these lots at auction, and the plats are now at our office ready for distribution.

This section of town is rapidly building up. The Honorable J. J. Greer, Councilman for that ward, is a live wire, and as the result of his good work, numerous street improvements have been made, the water and sewer mains have been extended, and the property is just beginning to enhance in value.

The Simpson Street Car Line

has been extended and now runs in front of this property, out to Ashby Street, and north to Bellwood Avenue, giving splendid car service.

There is a splendid demand for renting houses in this section, and the lots are desirable for working men of moderate means, who want to buy a home on easy terms.

The titles are perfect and the terms are $25.00 CASH, BALANCE $5.00 PER MONTH, WITH SEVEN PER CENT. INTEREST.

150 PERSONS DIED BY SEISMIC JARS

The Death List in Mexico Is Being Rapidly Increased.

Mexico City, June 8.—At least 150 persons are dead as the result of the earthquake which yesterday tossed its way from coast to coast in Mexico. Slowly the government is receiving its reports from points in a rectangular area whose northern boundary is less than fifty miles from the capital and whose southern line cuts across the lower point of the state of Guerrero.

From scores of villages where fatalities are known to have occurred, reports have not been received and the exact number of dead probably never will be known. The list of dead in Mexico City is placed at sixty-three.

In the state of Jalisco the greatest death loss appears to have been in Ocotlan, where 59 bodies have already been recovered.

Tonala, a small town in the same state, is reported as almost wiped out. A number of lives were lost.

Not many persons were killed in the city of Colima, but a considerable amount of damage was done. The cathedral is so badly damaged that a very slight shock might cause its collapse and the tower of another church was toppled onto the roof.

The volcano Colima has displayed considerably more activity during the past 48 hours, but the chief of the meteorological observatory at the capital is authority for the statement that this had nothing to do with the earthquake.

NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY PROTECTIVE CORPORATION

To Establish General Executive Offices in Atlanta.

Mr. A. J. Hoyt, vice president and general manager of National Bankruptcy Protective Corporation, is registered at the Piedmont. He is here to select and establish general executive offices for the National Bankruptcy Protective Corporation and to confer with some of the representative jobbers and manufacturers and other gentlemen of Atlanta interested in this corporation. The organization of National Bankruptcy Protective Corporation is primarily for the purpose of investigating for the jobbers and manufacturers all bankruptcies, both voluntary and involuntary, in which any of their subscribers are interested as creditors. A prompt, thorough and effective examination into matters in bankruptcy by the examining, accounting and legal departments of this corporation will be an invaluable aid to the creditors who, in most instances, are non-resident without organization among themselves and without facilities of careful examining and reviewing conditions leading up to, surrounding and following the bankruptcy, so as to be able to discover hidden assets, to pass correctly on the elections of custodians and receivers, the confirmation of sales, the acceptance of compositions and the fixing of costs. It is likewise the plan of this corporation to lend its aid to the actual prosecution of bankrupts where the investigation discloses a violation of any of the penal provisions of the national bankrupt act. The prospectus of the plan and scope of this work has been placed in the hands of the jobbers and manufacturers of Atlanta and representatives of the corporation will take the matter up personally with all the jobbers and manufacturers.

Besides their home offices in Jacksonville and general executive offices in Atlanta, which will be opened in a few days in the Candler building, this corporation will have branch offices at New Orleans, Baltimore and New York. Mr. Fred Roege, an expert investigator of ten years' experience in the government service, will be the superintendent of the Atlanta division.

MADERO CONFERS WITH DE LA BARA

Mexico City, June 8.—Earnestly canvassing the best methods giving effect to those principles which the present political situation in Mexico has promulgated, Provisional President de la Barra and Francisco I. Madero sat alone for nearly three hours today in Chapultepec castle, the presidential palace, and had a heart-to-heart talk about the course of events that is to precede the national elections next fall.

It was a most satisfactory talk, according to the versions of both men, and had the effect incidentally of clearly defining the relation of Citizen Madero to the chief executive.

After the talk was concluded, President de la Barra declared:

"Senor Madero recognized the legality of my position, the fact that I am invested by the constitution with the resource of dictative functions, but I recognize in him also the leader of a large political party. We understand one another well, and I am happy to tell you that I feel confident of being able to report to congress when it reconvenes in September the complete restoration of peace in the republic."

President de la Barra paid high tribute to the personality of Madero, saying he was a man of good sense and "good public spirit."

Madero expressed satisfaction at the result of his interview with the president. At his home in Colonia Juarez the former rebela leader tonight said his talk with de la Barra had given him cause for believing in the complete sincerity of the chief executive, adding that he now believes there is no formidable obstacle in their view; that tranquillity throughout the republic will be almost immediately restored, and that progress will be evident in every step the Mexican people take.

ATLANTA WOMEN TO ARRANGE EXHIBIT FOR EXPOSITION

As a result of an interesting meeting yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Fannie Lowry Porter, when a number of Atlanta's prominent women were addressed by Mrs. Percy Lockett, president of the woman's department of the Appalachian exposition, there will be an exhibit of woman's work from Georgia at the exposition.

The Atlanta ladies were invited by Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, who was president of the Georgia woman's board last year, and by Mrs. Porter, who extended to Mrs. Lockett the courtesies of her home for the meeting. Mrs. Lockett, whose beauty and dignity and grace at once drew her Georgia sisters to her in interested attention, explained clearly the purposes of the woman's department, one of these to encourage the handicrafts of the women of the Appalachian districts, especially those of the rural and more isolated districts. She mentioned a number of inspirational exhibits which would be made from other sections as object lessons, and mentioned the necessity there was to put premiums on all the practical crafts of women in the home as well as in the more artistic achievements. She urged upon the Atlanta women their obligation as being so much a part of the Appalachian region.

Mrs. Lockett was introduced by Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, who welcomed her, Colonel and Mrs. Tyson to Atlanta. Mrs. Tyson extended to the ladies present an invitation to go to Knoxville Atlanta day, and was most cordial in expression. Colonel Tyson, as president of the exposition, indorsed the efforts being made by the woman's board, and assured them the co-operation of the exposition management.

Mrs. Lowry Honorary Chairman.

On taking steps for organization in Atlanta, Mrs. Lockett appointed Mrs. Robert J. Lowry honorary chairman, with the request that she appoint active chairmen and committees to carry out the plans for an exhibition. Mrs. J. O. Wynn was appointed chairman, but stated she could not accept the position permanently, but would act until the Atlanta committee was organized.

Luncheon Served.

After the meeting dainty refreshments were served, the guests assembling in the dining room, where a beautiful table tempted with the platters of sandwiches, cakes and bonbons.

In the center was a bowl of Chatney roses. Vases of the same flowers were around this and the cakes and ices were in pink.

Mrs. Porter was assisted in entertaining by her daughter Mrs. Bates Block and Mrs. Walter Taylor.

Tea on the Terrace.

In the afternoon Mrs. Tyson and Mrs. Lockett were the guests of honor at a delightful tea at the Driving Club, when Mrs. J. O. Wynn invited a party of friends to meet them. Tea and dainty refreshments were served on the terrace, where a table was radiant with flowers, and about it the ladies were grouped.

Colonel and Mrs. Tyson and Mrs. Lockett were among the out-of-town guests at the English-Kiser wedding.

HOOTING OWLS TRANSFORMED INTO BAND OF ROARING LIONS

Birmingham, Ala., June 8.—The Birmingham Order of Owls, embracing about 1,500 members, was today formally disbanded and an Independent Order of Lions was organized to succeed it, with practically the same membership.

Serious charges have been made against some of the men who recently organized the Order of Owls here, and it was the general dissatisfaction with conditions that resulted in the disbandment.

HOBSON ARRIVES TODAY; LECTURES ON TEMPERANCE

Richmond Pearson Hobson, famed throughout the world for his heroic action in sinking the Merrimac during the Spanish-American war, will speak in Atlanta tonight at the Baptist Tabernacle at 8 o'clock.

His lecture is a temperance address, the subject being "The Great Destroyer," and to those interested in the fight against the liquor evil his plain, emphatic and vigorous espousal of the temperance cause makes him a greater hero than almost anything else he ever did.

The lecture which he will deliver in Atlanta is the same which he gave before congress and it contains some startling assertions which will prove interesting to everybody of temperance and non-temperance persuasion.

This lecture will be delivered under the auspices of the Georgia W. C. T. U. and the Evangelical Ministers' Association.

Mr. Hobson will arrive in Atlanta at 10:40 o'clock this morning at the Terminal Station, coming here from Macon.

Chairman, S. R. Belk; Rev. R. O. Flynn, C. J. Thompson, Rev. W. O. Foster, Rev. J. R. Jordon, Rev. C. B. Wilmer, Rev. W. C. Shafer and J. B. Richards, general secretary of the Anti-Saloon League. This committee will meet Mr. Hobson at the station.

CAPT. RICHMOND P. HOBSON,
Who speaks in Atlanta tonight.

GOOD ROADS TRAIN ITINERARY ANNOUNCED

Washington, June 8.—(Special.)—The schedule for the "road improvement train" being operated by the Southern railway and affiliated lines in conjunction with the United States office of public roads, has been arranged from June 22 through June 24. During this time it will visit points on the Alabama Great Southern railroad and the Southern railway in Alabama and Georgia, as follows:

June 22, Thursday, Gadsden, Ala., 9 a. m.
June 22, Thursday, Attalla, Ala., 2 p. m.
June 23, Friday, Springville, Ala., 9 p. m.
June 24, Saturday, Rising Fawn, Ga., 10 a. m.

At each stop free lectures and demonstrations will be conducted by two road experts of the United States department of agriculture, D. H. Winslow and H. C. Wells. The cars of the train are filled with exhibits and working models and in every way the special is equipped to stimulate the interest in good roads and to give valuable information as to how to build them and keep them in repair.

It is the purpose of the Southern railway in running this train to give practical instruction in the building of good roads and their repair with the hope of inducing their construction, thus saving the farmers millions annually. It is handling the train free in order to bring this information to the people along its lines.

The Man Whose Ankle Ached

IF the man whose ankle ached had taken the advice of the prominent specialist instead of coming to see me, he would have been out $150 or $200 and the probabilities are that his ache would still be there. A year ago this gentleman had many symptoms of a disordered system, but he was particularly worried by a pain which came frequently in one of his ankles. He was otherwise affected, such as tiring easily, pain somewhere all the time, pain in back of neck and head and sometimes pain all through his body. Then, too, he had numbness in his extremities and had a peculiar sensation in the skin. At night he was so nervous he could not go to sleep, and upon suddenly awakening, his limbs would twitch and tremble. There were many other symptoms, among them being one of despondency. But the sharp pain in his ankle alarmed him. He thought it might be rheumatism, so he went to a specialist who is noted for high prices and who is highly recommended. This specialist made an examination and pronounced the pain in the ankle an alarming symptom. He told the gentleman that this indicated an attack of serious inflammation of the joint, and he advised an immediate operation, which would cost $150. This fee and other expenses would bring the cost up to more than this. Of course the gentleman was alarmed, but it so happened that during the next day or two the pain in the ankle did not bother him, and no operation was performed. All he did at the time was to pay the specialist $10 for telling him an operation would be necessary. When he came to me I found him suffering from a typical case of nerve exhaustion, and I explained to him how his disordered nervous system had caused his aches and pains. He took treatment and I finally discharged him as cured. I knew his ankle ache was caused by a nervous disorder because I have specialized in diseases of men, nervous disorders and chronic diseases for over a third of a century. Therefore I know them and know I can cure any case which CAN be cured. I am at my office from 8 to 7; Sundays and holidays, 10 to 1. My monographs are free by mail in plain, sealed wrapper.

The man was arrested at Tsaritsyn and now says that he has in the course of his career killed fifty-seven persons, including among his victims Dr. Pepoff, a surgeon of Kazan. The doctor's assistant and a midwife were accused of his death and being convicted, are now serving terms of imprisonment.

Church Pursues Dead Rouvier.

Paris, June 8.—Mgr. Amiette, archbishop of Paris, today denied the request of Mme. Rouvier that the funeral of her husband, Senator Maurice Rouvier, who died yesterday in his home in Neuilly-sur-Seine, be conducted in accordance with the burial rites of the Roman Catholic church. It was during M. Rouvier's term as premier that the law separating church and state was passed by the French parliament.
